Men Admit Spree Of 9 Burglaries

Short Stop Armed Robbery Included

Police obtained signed statements Thursday night from three young men who admitted robbing the Short Stop gas station at gun point and nine other Lincoln area burglaries.

The three, aged 18, 19, and 20, were booked at police headquarters on open charges in connection with the robbery and burglaries.

The trio's downfall came when the young men were spotted attempting to burglarize a store at Adams, Neb., Wednesday night.

One of them ran away from the scene when an auto approached the store. He was picked up by Sheriff Ned Maxwell heading west out of town, and was jailed at Beatrice.

Police detective George Hansen returned the man to Lincoln while detectives Harry Davis and Frank Bohman arrested two other Lincolmites for investigation. All three admitted some of the nine burglaries, police said. All were involved in the Short Stop robbery.

One of the men revealed plans the trio had to burglarize the Watt Service Station at 44th and O.

He told detectives they arrived at the filling station only to find police already investigating a break-in by others.

Police reported the chronological crime spree of the men, but said all weren't involved in each incident:

Nov. 11-14, Meadow Lane School burglary, two cameras stolen, valued at $325. One man admitted taking the cameras to St. Joseph, Mo., to sell them at a hook shop.

Dec. 1, Tates Service Station, four tires stolen.

Dec. 7, Board of Education at 22nd & Randolph, electric drill stolen. One man admitted plugging in the drill which blew out the fuses in the building. The scared men ran from the scene. The safe was damaged in attempt to open it. Burglary same night at Lincoln High School, several tools taken.

Dec. 14, Capital Shooting Supply, a .22 revolver was stolen. The gun was used in the Short Stop armed robbery.

Dec. 16, Short Stop robbery.

Dec. 17, Irving School at 2745 So. 22nd, $50 worth of damage to doors and locks. Burglary the same night at Ceresco filling station. Motor oil, battery, gun shells and flashlight were taken. Burglary at Palmyra hardware store. Three guns were taken. Crete corner filling station was burglarized. Cartons of cigarettes were taken.

Dec. 19, men got lost and burglarized store in unknown town around South Bend area. Electric coffee pots and frying pan, pots and pans stolen.

—State Of Emergency— 30 Reported Dead In Flood

All Rivers Out Of Their Banks; Some Towns Wiped Out; Thousands Evacuate

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Flooded northwestern California was in a state of emergency Thursday night, with all rivers out of their banks. Many towns were flooded—some wiped out. Thousands evacuated their homes and hundreds of persons were marooned and their lives in jeopardy.

Two women and a girl drowned trying to flee flood water in the American River's north fork in Placer County.

A short wave radio report that 30 had drowned in Humboldt County could not be confirmed. Phone communication with all Humboldt County was cut off.

The greatest havoc was along the big Eel River, where two villages were wiped out. The Redwood Valley Dam on the upper river overflowed and a log jam developed on the lower river near Fernbridge. The jam blocked the flow of the flood water. Nearly the entire Eel River Valley was inundated.

The villages of Weott, population 450, and South Fork, population 300, were the two reported destroyed.

Estimates Vary
Estimates of loss of life varied from two or three to more than 30 in flooded Humboldt County.

Elmer Hodgkinson, editor of the Humboldt Times in Eureka, messaged The Associated Press today that 30 lives had been lost in the county. Hodgkinson's message, relayed via the naval reserve radio at Sacramento, quoted the Coast Guard as the source of the information. However, the Coast Guard office in San Francisco said it had no report on casualties.

Thirty-foot waves were reported breaking at the mouth of the Eel River, further backing up flood waters.

Frank Brown, operator of radio station KHUM in Eureka, messaged The Associated Press via a radio "ham" Thursday night that "hundreds of lives are still in jeopardy. Thousands already are homeless and hundreds are awaiting evacuation. Damage is in the millions."

Guard Called
California Gov. Goodwin Knight late Thursday declared a state of emergency for all of northern California, and two National Guard units at Eureka were immediately called to service.

And the damage was not confined to stricken Humboldt County. Every stream on the north coast, from the Russian in Sonoma County, 50 miles north of San Francisco to the Oregon line, and most of those in the north Sierra Nevada were at flood stage.

Threats of a dam collapse which would flood Hamilton Air Force Base in Marin County north of San Francisco forced removal of planes from Hamilton to Travis Air Force Base in the Sacramento Valley.

The 41st Air Rescue Squadron, operating out of Travis temporarily, gathered SA16 Albatross amphibian planes and helicopters from as far away as Denver and San Diego to be ready for action at daybreak.

Two Hurt Slightly In Auto Accident

Misses Geraldine Langoss, 38, of 2012 So. 10th, and Margaret Hatfield, 22, of Bedford, Ia., suffered minor injuries in a two-car collision at 10th and O Streets Thursday night.

Both were taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital for treatment and were later released. Miss Langoss suffered a head bruise and Miss Hatfield suffered bruises to both of her legs.

Miss Hatfield was driving west on O, police said, when her vehicle collided with one driven by Richard Snyder, 19, of Route 1, that was going east on O.

Winter Skirts Past Nebraska

With high readings Thursday ranging from 39 to a balmy 63 degrees, winter weather seemed to have skirted the state for a few days, at least.

The warm air was to linger on through Friday night, the Weather Bureau said. Southeastern Nebraska was to warm even more Friday with the mercury to climb into the 50's in the southwest.

Thursday the temperature hit 44 in Lincoln and dropped to a low of 29. It was even more pleasant in other spots in Cornhuskerland. Sidney, with a 63-degree high, was the warmest spot in the state. Both Imperial and Scottsbluff had 61.

Norfolk remained the chilliest with a high of 39 and with the state low of 14.

Youngsters Questioned In Old Cozad Mail Theft

A 13-year-old youth was questioned by postal authorities in connection with the theft of mail from a Cozad Post Office two years ago.

The youngster and a boy, 15, were picked up for questioning of the burglary of the C. A. Tankersley Grocery at 1400 No. 14th in Lincoln this week.

City-County Building Unit Has Two Avenues

... Report Hoped For In January

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer
Either one of two possible routes for building the proposed City-County office structure were left up to the recommendation of a citizen committee after a meeting Thursday.

One, as suggested by County Board Chairman Russell Brehm, would propose that Lancaster County build the city-county building and lease space at actual cost to the city for a number of years.

The other, generally favored by the Committee itself, is the creation of the City-County Authority which would build the proposed $3.5 million structure with revenue bonds amortized over a 40-year period.

Committee Chairman C. C. Kimball indicated that a report and recommendation, as requested by the county would probably be available by the middle of January.

Needed For Years
At the meeting with the nine-member committee and Mayor Clark Jeary, Brehm said the county has needed such a building the past 12 or 15 years.

"Every time we get to the front of the line, we have been pushed back. We can't put off our needs for another five or seven years," Brehm's remarks were prefaced on the observation that the city-county building proposal during the past decade has always taken a back seat to city bond issues.

Jeary defended that city's position saying that city bond issues have been proposed only for improvements sorely needed.

Taking a dim view of a landlord-tenant relationship between the county and city, Jeary said the building should be jointly-owned.

"If this citizen's committee thinks this matter should go forward, then the city will be with you," Jeary told Brehm.

Jeary said that city groups have five other bond issue improvements under consideration, including a new community hospital and public library expansion.

Maybe the city council may have a priority problem, Brehm said, but the county has only one project. "A new county building has had priority with us for years," he added.

At one point in the discussion, Brehm said the county would go ahead with or without the city, (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2.)

Shots Fired At Passing CB&Q Train

Omaha police and Burlington Railroad authorities were looking for a mysterious gunman who fired at least three shots at a Burlington train as it passed through South Omaha Thursday night.

Injured by one of the bullets was a Lincoln railroad baggage man, C. E. Leddy, 55, of 6700 Adams. Leddy was hit in the upper right arm by a .22 short bullet.

He was working in a baggage car on the Chicago to Denver "Number 7" just after it had left Omaha on its way to Lincoln, Leddy said, when he "heard a rifle crack."

"I felt a sting and reached for my arm and felt something warm," the baggage man said. Leddy cleaned and bandaged the wound himself, and when the train arrived in Lincoln he was treated at Lincoln General Hospital and later released.

Leddy said he was "thankful" the bullet had to pass through two inches of wood in the baggage car door before it hit him.

Evidence of two other slugs hitting the train was found. One broke a window on the diesel unit and another struck the side of a baggage car.

Authorities said the shots were apparently fired from a bank or other high point, judging from the trajectory of the slugs.

Gov. Victor Anderson Thursday reappointed Edna A. Fagan of Omaha to the State Board of Nurse Examiners for a four-year term. Yet to be appointed is a representative of the practical nursing group.

Defendant Calm; Murder In First Degree Charged

Father, Attorneys Here From Iowa; Forester Taken To Penitentiary To Wait For Hearing

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Darrel F. Parker, 24, pleaded not guilty Thursday afternoon in Lancaster County Court to the first-degree murder charge filed in the Dec. 14 strangulation-slaying of his attractive 22-year-old wife, Nancy.

County Attorney Elmer Scheele read the complaint charging that Parker "did feloniously, purposely and of his own deliberate and premeditated malice kill Nancy Parker."

Atty. Max Towle of Lincoln, appearing as local counsel for Parker, said "He's not guilty." Parker echoed the words. Also representing him were Atty. Kenneth and Edgar Cook of Glenwood, Ia., father and son in the law firm of Cook and Drake.

County Judge Herbert A. Ronin set preliminary hearing for 9:30 a.m. on Jan. 21 as mutually agreed upon by the attorneys. No bond was requested for the defendant, who stood calm and mute, with half-closed hands resting on the judges bench.

After arraignment, Parker's attorneys conferred with him briefly in Scheele's office before Parker was taken by Sheriff Merle Karnopp to the Penitentiary for safe-keeping.

Father Here
The Iowa attorneys came to Lincoln with Parker's father, Lynn Parker of Henderson, Ia., about 15 miles from Glenwood, after the accused had made arrangements with his family for legal counsel.

Parker had been brought to Scheele's office about 11 a.m. Thursday, where he was informed of the charge against him and advised of his legal rights. The closed-door session lasted about 15 minutes and he was returned to the city jail until arrival of his attorneys and arraignment.

Conviction of first degree murder in Nebraska is punishable by death in the electric chair or life imprisonment. Even when a guilty plea is entered, a District Court jury must hear the case to recommend punishment.

'Probable Cause'
Purpose of the preliminary hearing is for a judicial determination that there is "probable cause" for holding the defendant for trial in district court.

Thursday's climax in the case came nearly 17 hours after the joint announcement Wednesday night that Parker had confessed killing his wife at their Antelope Park home because "she was cold" to him.

Scheele said at that time that the confession was given to Criminalist John E. Reid, a lie detector expert from Chicago, who was called into the case Tuesday.

Under Surveillance
Scheele disclosed Thursday that Parker had been under surveillance during the time he was in Iowa, but the county attorney did not elaborate.

This was part of "our plan, which worked" when authorities did not get an "early break" in the case and Parker was permitted to go with his and his wife's parents to Des Moines, Scheele said.

Atty. Dale Fahrbruch and Detective Clarence Schaeff flew to Iowa where they outlined details of the case to R. W. Nebergall, chief of the Iowa Bureau of Criminal Investigation, and asked checks on specific details.

Scheele said it had not been possible over the week end to completely check out Parker's activities the morning of the slaying because of the absence of some witnesses. That step was completed Monday night and Tuesday Scheele decided on the course of action which summoned the top-flight Chicago criminologist.

Asked when he came to the conclusion that Parker was the man, Scheele answered, "Not until he signed his confession."

He counseled reporters that though Parker "told an incoherent story when first questioned" and there were some suspicious indications, an investigator has "to fight against a single theory and look in all directions."

Reid said no unusual line of questioning was used, but that Parker broke down and confessed after being confronted with the test results. He ate a meal with Reid before the second test.

Scheele praised the work of the investigators who "just didn't quit" in the case. He explained Police Detective Capt. Paul Beave coordinated efforts of the police, county sheriff's office, State Safety Patrol criminal division and the county attorney's office to insure there was no duplication of efforts.

'Death Time Helpful'
Scheele said the microscopic findings confirmed the gross autopsy of strangulation but also "significantly narrowed the span of the time of death, which was very helpful." He declined further comment.

Neither did Scheele enlarge upon the details of Parker's confession as cryptically announced early Thursday morning.

City employe associates of Parker's and city officials were shocked at the news of the forester's confession.

"It hardly seems possible that he could have done it," said Park Superintendent James Ager. "He was well liked by everyone and was doing an excellent job for the city."

Welfare and Safety Director Emmett Jung said the news was "a terrible shock to me. He did fine work and appeared to be very conscientious and sincere."

Mayor Clark Jeary's comment stressed the "example of fine work accomplished through the cooperation of all branches of government in Lincoln and Lancaster County. Not only the top officials, but those men who are seldom recognized such as uniformed officers and deputies did a tremendous job."

THE FLIGHT INTO EGYPT

The Coming Of The King

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE
Chapter XI

The gates of Bethlehem clanged shut behind Joseph, Mary and the infant Jesus. And it was in the dark of night, fleeing the swords of Herod's soldiers, that the little king left the town of his ancestor, King David, where he had been born.

But although it was dark, there were stars in the sky to guide them. And although it was cold, the baby was wrapped warmly. And although the soldiers were already close by on the Jerusalem road, the donkey could take the paths over the hills leading to Egypt and safety.

So for many a weary day Joseph and the poor donkey trod the rocky hills and the sandy deserts. Mary was not quite as tired because she rode on the donkey with Jesus in her arms, but she was tired enough.

It was a hard journey, a far harder one than most of us have ever made. They could travel only on little-used paths and trails and even then mostly at night for fear of Herod's soldiers. They avoided people, because Herod's spies were everywhere.

They talked to no one and heard no news. It was not until long after that they heard of the slaughter of the innocents in Bethlehem and realized that only with the help of God had Jesus escaped.

As they traveled, Joseph reminded Mary that this was the path their people had traveled when Moses led them back after they had been slaves in Egypt. And soon they saw it, Sinai, from which Moses had brought down the tablets.

U.S. Will Increase A-Weapons In Europe

6 'Corporal' Missile Units Going Abroad

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army Thursday night disclosed plans for a drastic increase in its atomic weapons strength in Europe. It announced it is sending six units of the Corporal guided missile to be added to the single unit already there.

Corporal, capable of mounting an atomic warhead, has a range unofficially estimated at between 50 and 70 miles.

Already in Europe, in addition to the one battalion of Corporal missiles, are six battalions of 280 mm cannons which can fire atomic shells, and what is officially described as "several batteries" of the bombardment rocket called Honest John.

The six additional Corporal units are to be shipped over in the first four months of the new year.

70 Launchers

The seven Corporal battalions will add a total of 70 launchers, including spares. The actual number of missiles in the hands of troops overseas is never disclosed. Each battalion has a force of about 250 men.

The announcement Thursday said that the six battalions on orders for Europe, now stationed at Ft. Bliss, Tex., are the 531st, the 557th, the 601st, the 558th, the 530th and the 559th. The original battalion overseas is the 259th, also from Ft. Bliss.

The Corporal missile now being used is an improved version of one which the Army started working on several years ago.

An official statement says the Corporal follows a ballistic trajectory in its flight to the target. Other information indicates the Corporal starts out on a guidance system, following the path of a radar beam until the fuel of its rocket motors is exhausted, whereupon the missile begins a conventional flight toward the target.

Slim Missile

The launcher is a simple metal device, with a hydraulic drive to elevate it to the desired angle for firing purposes.

The missile itself is slim and a pencil shaped with small control and stabilizing fins at the extreme end of the tail.

The Army says the Corporal missile "gives the field commander far greater fire power on the battlefield and enables him to strike selected targets deep in the enemy rear areas."

The Honest John is purely a ballistic missile, without guidance, all of its aiming being done before it is fired. This rocket has a range of about 20 miles.

Another Oil Quest Slated

Lincoln Star Special

BLUE SPRINGS, Neb. — Gage County will once again be the site of the constant quest for oil.

F. H. Schultze of Blue Springs has announced that plans are to drill a test well on the John Gronewald farm near Pickrell.

Schultze and Fred Noren of Superior will go together on the test, which is expected to be drilled shortly after January 1. Schultze made an attempt to locate oil near Liberty on his own farm last year.

The Gronewald farm is six miles east and about three miles south of Pickrell. Drilling will be with a standard rig.

After 11-Country World Tour—Lincoln Looks The Best To Arriving Mrs. America

By AL EDEE
Star Staff Writer

Mrs. America, Mrs. Carl Deitemeyer, returned home Thursday night to the outstretched arms of her four excited children.

"I'll never leave my babies again," she said as her children gathered around her.

Mrs. America and her husband had just completed the last leg of an international tour of 11 foreign countries.

"It's wonderful to be back in Lincoln," she said happily. "It looks like the best city in the world to me."

Visit Overplayed

She attempted to play down her visit to the Russian held East Berlin sector. "We simply went there on Sunday afternoon in a bus with 90 other people. The press enlarged our visit out of all proportion."

She said she was accompanied by the press "at almost every meal and when I went shopping. The next time I go it will be incognito," she said.

Her son interrupted to ask "did you see the place where Jesus was born, mommy?" Mrs. Deitemeyer nodded and smiled at her son.

Her Comment

And Mrs. America said about the countries she visited in the trip sponsored by the Belgium Airlines:

The best homemakers are the Belgium and Dutch women.

The best cooks are Scandinavian women.

The English women have the most up-to-date homemaking appliances.

"Outside of England," she said, "women cook on stoves that look like ours of 20 years ago."

Asked if European women like to cook as well as American women, she pointed to her husband. "He is a walking specimen of their cookery," she said she brought home many recipes.

Many Maids

Mrs. Deitemeyer said jokingly that she was not too impressed by notions of Europeans that American women have an easy life.

"Most of the middle class and upper middle class women have a maid over there," she said.

The highlight of her trip, she said, was a visit to Nyhmsslage, Sweden, where she visited her mother's cousins and the birthplace of her grandmother.

Is Mrs. America all through with traveling?

"Well, no," she admits. "I have a personal appearance engagement in Minneapolis in January."

NEHRU SENDS SEC. DULLES GOA NOTE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Indian Prime Minister Nehru has sent this government a sharply worded note about Secretary of State Dulles' recent reference to Goa as a province of Portugal.

The note, while containing vigorous language, fell short of being the formal protest that diplomatic officials in India had predicted would be forthcoming.

"I wouldn't call it a protest," said State Department press officer Lincoln White.

White told reporters the communication, which was not made public, would be answered. Foreign Ministry sources in New Delhi said the message "strongly expressed" India's resentment but was not actually a protest.

The Dulles statement, which aroused anti-American feelings in India at the time Russian Premier Bulganin and Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev were touring the country, was issued jointly with Portuguese Foreign Minister Paulo Cunha on Dec. 2.

Lost GI Walks To Highway

Missing Since Sunday

EASTON, Wash. (INS)—A plucky

paratrooper slogged on frozen feet to safety Thursday from snow-choked Cascade Mountain wilderness that hid his fate for four days after he bailed out of a distressed plane.

Army Sgt. John M. Horan, 25, Maynard, Mass., broke through to U.S. Highway 10, 11 1/2 miles east of the Snoqualmie Pass summit and slumped into the comfort of Rustic Inn.

His first words were for the whereabouts of his Japanese war-bride, left stranded on a Seattle pierhead with her three children when they departed from a transport in from Japan.

The paratrooper, a "good soldier," followed orders and bailed out of an ailing Air Force plane Sunday afternoon into the mountain storm, the plane righted itself, landed safely and search started for Horan.

In Comfort

The sergeant said he landed near a summer cabin and spent his first two nights in comparative comfort, eating canned supplies found in the cabin.

Tuesday, he decided he had to make a start for civilization, aware that swirling snow blocked his chances of being sighted from the air and effectively thwarted ground rescue efforts.

Improvised snow shoes from the cabin shelves, he started down out of the high country, keeping along the ridges and out of the head-deep snows in the valleys.

Late Thursday, he hit the black-top of the Snoqualmie Pass Highway, just 400 yards from the Rustic Inn, where he was placed in bed.

'Hungry'

State patrolmen sped a doctor to his bedside.

To the startled innkeepers, Sergeant Horan said:

"I'm hungry."

Then he asked that his Japanese wife, Teruko, be notified.

News of her husband's survival reached the wife at Fort Lawton in Seattle and the Army rushed her to a poignant reunion.

Back Door Patrol

PROSSER, Wash. (AP)—A carpenter was kicked out of his union for picking up his paycheck on his own time was awarded an $11,000 check from the union.

The damages were granted Albert J. Couie, Kennewick, by a Benton County Superior Court jury after a six-day trial.

Couie had asked $37,500 from the Pasco Carpenters Local No. 1849 and Millwrights Local 1699. He said the millwrights fined him in 1954 for his off-duty check-collecting and, as a result, he was expelled from the carpenters' local.

The jury awarded him $1,000 to loss of wages, $7,000 for mental pain and suffering and $3,000 for loss of union benefits.

Bodies Of 4 Found

Navy Plane Strikes Hawaiian Mountain

PEARL HARBOR (INS)—The wreckage of a missing Navy plane and the bodies of all four of its crewmen were found Thursday 8,000 feet up the rugged western slope of 10,000 foot high Mount Haleakala on the Hawaiian island of Maui.

A native policeman and a civilian, first to reach the scene, came upon the bodies amid the scattered debris several hours after the pilot of an Air Force search plane sighted the torn SNB-5 Beechcraft which had vanished in a storm the previous day.

An SB-29 Superfort from Hickam Field dropped a walkie-talkie by means of which the policeman and civilian were able to report they had found the bodies of the victims.

Strikes Head-On

They reported also that the craft apparently had hit the formerly volcanic mountain head-on while flying against fierce winds in a lashing rain. The plane broke into many fragments.

Those aboard the ill-fated plane were Marine Capt. W. R. Lipscomb 30, the pilot, San Antonio, Tex.; Marine Maj. Sam J. Griffin, 33, co-pilot, Fort Worth, Tex.; Marine Capt. D. C. Walker Jr., 27, Richmond, Va., and Navy Aviation Mechanic Thomas J. Anderson, 33, Janesville, Wis.

Missing Slug Is Located

Discovery Made On Omaha Campus

OMAHA (AP)—The missing slug used in the slaying of Carolyn Nevins was found on the University of Omaha campus Thursday.

Finding of this slug, about three feet from the spot where the girl's shoes were located the morning of December 10, indicates the girl probably was shot at that spot.

Three slugs had been located previously, two in the girl's body and one in her clothes.

The slug was located after authorities had decided to dig up the area and search for the slug but found the ground frozen too hard.

A detective fired his .38 revolver into the ground to determine how deep a bullet would go and from the hole it was determined that searchers would be able to see the hole made by the killer's bullet. They found the apparent murder bullet in 15 minutes.

Officers Confer

The decision to search for the missing bullet came in a conference among police officers, private investigators Robert Samardick Sr. and Criminologist Le Moyne Snyder.

The girl's body was found farther down the drive from the spot where her shoes were located.

This discovery apparently eliminated all conjecture that the girl could have been killed elsewhere and brought back to the spot where her snow-covered body was found.

Dr. Snyder had felt there was a "strong" possibility the spent bullet would be found in the area.

He said a mine-detector search made earlier in the investigation would not have turned up a copper-jacketed bullet.

The well-known criminologist, in his second day on the job, studied the autopsy report Thursday. He has said he'll need to determine the time of her death before he can proceed with the investigation.

The slain girl's shoes were found about 140 feet north of the bus stop at the east end of the Administration Building and her body was found another 100 feet farther north.

Dr. Snyder said it was possible the girl lived 30 minutes or more after she was shot. He theorized she may have been knocked unconscious but was revived by the 19-degree cold and crawled to the spot where she was found dead.

Heretofore local authorities have worked on the assumption that she died within 10 minutes.

300-Year-Old Wayside Inn Virtually Razed By Flames

SUDBURY, Mass. (AP)—An early morning fire Thursday virtually destroyed the 300-year-old Wayside Inn, made famous by poet Henry Wadsworth Longfellow and restored to its original loveliness a quarter-century ago by Henry Ford.

Lost with the famous old hostelry, also a noted stopping place for George Washington, were invaluable early American pieces of furniture and other Colonial antiques many collected and brought here by Ford.

The fire was discovered by William Mann, night watchman and the only person in the inn. He smelled smoke, traced it to the boiler room in the rear section of the T-shaped building and notified a caretaker who summoned firemen.

3 Vet Groups Blast Parole Of German

WASHINGTON (AP)—Leaders of three veterans organizations fired protests to the administration Thursday over reports that former German Col. Joachim Peiper, convicted of taking part in the 1944 Malmady massacre, may be paroled from prison.

J. Addington Wagner, national commander of the American Legion, made public a telegram to Secretary of State Dulles saying Peiper "personally directed execution" of the American prisoners slain at Malmady, Belgium. He asked for a "forthright statement by you explaining our government's official attitude and assuring that justice to these heroic war dead and their survivors will be served."

Timothy J. Murphy, commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, telegraphed both Dulles and Secretary of Defense Wilson protesting any clemency for Peiper. He also called for removal of Edwin A. Plitt as American member of the international board which reviews cases on convicted war criminals.

Kenneth M. Birkhead, executive director of the American Veterans Committee, wired President Eisenhower asking him "to see that justice is done so that those with the blood of American soldiers on their hands do not escape their punishment."

The Malmady massacre occurred during the last desperate offensive of the Germans. More than 100 Americans who had surrendered were killed because the Nazis did not wish to be hampered by prisoners.

The racing flames destroyed the long main section and the left wing which faces in from the old Boston-Worcester Post Road.

Thursday night only the ice-coated and smoke-blackened face of the main building stands. The right wing was badly damaged. It housed the cocktail lounge, wine cellar and gift shop.

Five other buildings on the 95-acre tract were undamaged. They included the grist mill, also restored by Ford; the coach house and Mary's Lamb School, to which tradition has it, the lamb followed Mary.

Used Wednesday Night

The inn was used as recently as Wednesday night for a wedding reception.

There were a dozen guest rooms upstairs in the main building, two dining rooms and a ball room.

Perhaps the most widely known poem Longfellow wrote here was the tale of the midnight ride of Paul Revere who in 1775 warned the farmers the British Redcoats were coming, the ride that precipitated the famous battle at Lexington and Concord Bridge.

Hammarckjold Plans Tour Of 14 Countries

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—U.N. Secretary Dag Hammarskjold announced Thursday he will visit 14 member countries in the next two months.

He told a news conference he would pay the visits going to and coming from a session of the U.N. Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East to start Feb. 2 in Bangalore, India. He will stop, he said, in London, Athens, Ankara, Cairo, Tel Aviv, Beirut, Damascus, Baghdad, Karachi, New Delhi, Rangoon, Jakarta, Canberra and Wellington.

Ferdinand Demara, Brilliant Imposter, Turns Up In Texas Pen

LAWRENCE, Mass (INS) — A Lawrence man, disclosed as an imposter in 1951 after performing brilliant surgical feats on the Korean battle front, turned up Thursday as an employee of a Huntsville, Tex., prison.

But Ferdinand Waldo Demara Jr., 36, reportedly packed his bags and left the institution after being confronted with his identity.

His mother, Mrs. Mary A. Demara in Lawrence, his only surviving relative, said she had last heard from him a few months ago but at that time, as far as she knew, he was not in the south.

"I knew he was earning a living but that was all," she said.

"He came home when his father died in October, a year ago. Then he was home last Christmas for about 10 days."

Heading Home

It was suggested that, perhaps, he was heading home again for Christmas.

"I hope so," she said. "He's all I have now."

Mrs. Demara said she had sent Christmas cards and gifts to her son, mailing them to a point out of state but she insisted it was not in Texas.

"I'm all alone in the house," she said. "It would be nice if he would come home and stay with me."

From Texas Thursday came the report that Demara had been identified as the man who had posed as a New Brunswick physician and served in the Canadian Navy, performing amazing surgical operations on the Korean battlefield despite his meager education.

Pictures

The report from Texas said Demara had presented credentials from southern universities. But another employee of the prison found a magazine article, written some three years ago, describing Demara's career. Pictures accompanied the article.

Demara has had a fabulous career since he left high school in Lawrence 15 years ago without graduating. Since that time he has studied in a Trappist monastery and posed successfully, not only as a surgeon, but as a psychology professor and an eminent zoologist, using credentials of others in his assumed roles. He also served in the Army and Navy and has worked as a hospital orderly.

In his Korean adventure, Demara used the name and credentials of Dr. Joseph C. Cyr, of Grand Falls, N. B., to obtain a surgeon's commission in the Canadian Royal Navy in March, 1951.

After service in the Halifax Naval Hospital, he went to Korea. His most spectacular operation there included removal of a bullet, a fraction of an inch from the heart of a South Korean soldier and a complex resection, or a lung removal.

He later said he performed his surgery after reading accounts of similar operations. His lung resection was patterned after that performed on the late King George VI of England.

His exposure came when Dr. Cyr reported the loss of his credentials. As a result he was discharged dishonorably and returned to Canada, where he was given 10 days to leave the dominion.

Later, he sold his life story to a national magazine and, apparently, it was the same story which brought about his latest exposure.

India Agrees

NEW DELHI (INS) — India announced it has reached agreement with Britain for "close cooperation and mutual assistance" in the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Britain will provide enriched uranium fuel elements for a "swimming pool" type of reactor being built near Bombay and will help design an experimental "high flux" reactor subsequently.

2 Men Killed By Burglar

ALEXANDRIA, La. (INS) — An Air Force captain and his father-in-law were shot to death Thursday by a burglar who posed as Santa Claus earlier when he awakened the officer's four-year-old child.

The double slaying occurred at the home of Capt. Edward M. Felknor, 32, communications and electronics officer at the England Air Force Base in Alexandria, La. Felknor and his father-in-law, Frank E. Miller, 55, of Clinton, S. C., were the victims.

Mrs. Felknor said that her daughter, Susan, told her the burglar quieted her as he came through an unopened back door by informing her he was Santa Claus bringing gifts for the Christmas tree.

The child watched as the gunman searched for loot.

Screams

Later, Susan's grandmother, Mrs. Miller, was awakened as the burglar entered the bedroom where she and her husband were sleeping.

Mrs. Miller's screams awakened her husband and her son-in-law, Felknor. The gunman fired on both men as they rushed at him, wounding them fatally.

Mrs. Miller ran to the front door as the gunman tried to get out of the house. She begged him not to kill her and he said:

"Get back into the house and shut your mouth."

The Millers were visiting the Felknors for the holidays.

Sheriff Grady L. Kelley said the gunman fled without any loot.

Ban Lifted

TULSA, Okla. (INS) — A court order blocking bus drivers and mechanics from striking in Tulsa was lifted. District Judge W. Lee Johnson vacated the court order restraining the Motor Coach Employees Union from striking. He ruled that the bus drivers and mechanics are not governmental employees as contended by the city of Tulsa in obtaining the temporary restraining order Monday, ending a 10-day strike.

Sen. Ives Appeals

WASHINGTON (INS) — Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-NY), urged Air Force Secretary Donald A. Quarles to keep open the Samson Air Force Base at Geneva, N. Y. Ives said Quarles promised to give the matter "thorough consideration." Quarles has said he will withhold until mid-January a decision on an Air Force staff recommendation that the base be closed.

Back To The Fleshpots

Columnist Doris Fleeson contributes one of the most enchanting commentaries on the Washington scene in this issue of The Lincoln Star since the Eisenhower administration came into power. Miss Fleeson says that all evidence establishes a changed mood on the part of the administration when it comes to spending. The purse strings are open. After having been drawn tight they are being relaxed. There will be a substantial increase in the funds made available for new weapons, possibly as much as a billion dollars more than was available the past year. There will be money for health and health research, heretofore unavailable. There will be revenue for an expanded highway program, money for schools, and for other purposes which heretofore have been told they must wait until the budget is balanced. But the most impressive increase in sight at this time involves proposals for foreign aid, both of an economic and a military nature. The significance of this switch in plans simply amounts to a confession that the cold war is back again in full fury and all of this talk which started with the spirit of Geneva has had no real foundation in our relations with Russia. It is the fleshpots again on the domestic side and a continuation of precisely the same policies which the party in power now criticized so strongly when out of power.

Storm Sewer Needs

There are some interesting sidelights to the report of the city's finance director, Theo Berg, that all is ready for the issuance of $1,772,000 in bonds Feb. 1. The big share of this sale will be $1.3 million in storm sewer improvement bonds. This means that another big step will be taken this coming summer to bring the city's storm sewer needs up to date. The only question that might be raised is why the program is being spread out over three years, rather than completed at one time. A total of $3.5 million in sewer bonds was authorized by the voters. But by spreading the program over three years, a more favorable financing is obtained and annual principal and interest payments are somewhat reduced. Also, there is a question of how much of the work the city could get done at one time. Even at the present three year rate, much of the engineering work on the sewer projects has had to be let out to private concerns. The other $472,000 of the $1,772,000 issue is composed of special improvement district bonds.

The Denver Innovation

Denver, like other communities, is grappling with the problem of educational shortage—an increasing number of young people, a decreasing number of teachers, a lack of structures and the problem of where to find the money to bring it all into balance. The story sounds familiar wherever the reader may be. It is the same problem that is plaguing Nebraska. Now to the problem Denver may have added controversy to complicate matters—or it may have simply pointed to a logical innovation at a time when fresh thinking is called for. The Denver Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Colorado Public Expenditure Council has proposed that the Denver schools go on a 12 months basis. They ask why cannot a portion of the teacher shortage be relieved by a longer teaching period and why cannot the complaints about poor pay be corrected by a longer work year with its additional extra earning? And they ask would it not be more sensible to use present facilities all year instead of nine months? Why build additional buildings when present ones stand empty three months a year? The two groups would not change the length of the term for the children. They would still use the four quarter system. They would simply start groups of children each quarter instead of all at once. They calculate that Denver's present 70,000 students would thus be increased to 93,000 which is 2,000 more than the estimated peak Denver wishes to build for. At first look Denver's 12 month proposal is full of attractiveness. But just as there are arguments for it there must be reasons why it was not done long ago. The plan may die young, but it brings up a good subject and it calls upon the professional educators to explain why the school year has always been nine months which to some is just as confusing as why one has a notch in the lapel of his coat, or a lapel for that matter. It is a matter that calls for logical clarification.

Of Men And Things

By J.E. LAWRENCE
News note: Christmas was in the air. An Associated Press dispatch noted that Miss America of 1956, Sharon Kay Ritchie, had sent First Christian Church of Grand Island a sizeable check for its building fund. The Rev. R. R. Yeldern, pastor of the church, declined to make public the amount, but did say it was the largest he had seen from one person for such a purpose. Which, in addition to being good news, was strictly in character in the case of Miss America of 1956. Active in church work, this Nebraska beauty established a record of sorts for the Miss Americas to shoot at from now on in. . . . There was other good news. . . . Nebraska's Highway Department, the news columns disclosed, awarded a record-cracking $24,961,261 worth of highway improvement contracts in 1955. . . . This is over $2 million more than the preceding year. . . . Largest amount of new construction was on state roads. . . . Phil Hockenberger of Columbus recently was trying to figure out the gratifying growth of that community since the official census of 1950. . . . He came up with a figure of 12,279 persons, arrived at by multiplying the number of Columbus phones by four and one-half, a nationally accepted ratio, so he claims. . . . Curious, Sterling McCaw, of the Norfolk News, insists that Norfolk could claim 15,821 by using the same formula, a little bit too rosy, he says. . . . While Norfolk has grown, it is unlikely to have increased more than 4,500 since 1950.

Gene Eppley's gift of $850,000 to the University of Omaha is a generous, magnificent gesture which arouses the enthusiasm of the Omaha World-Herald. It "is the handsomest thing that has been done for any educational institution hereabouts in many a long year," the Herald declares. And so it is. But not to be overlooked is a magnificent Love Library which stands on the campus of the University of Nebraska. Complete, that library, made possible through the benefaction of the late Mayor Don L. Love of Lincoln, cost just short of a million dollars.

Arch Jarrell of the Grand Island Independent plays a very beautiful and a very deserved tribute to Vernon Chapman, who lost his life last Sunday at the Lincoln Naval Air Training Station when his jet plane took off from its blocks. "Vernon Chapman was a young man of great ability, vitality and energy," Mr. Jarrell wrote. "Coming out of the Navy, he had taken eagerly to the business world and especially to salesmanship. But he kept his interest in flying and retained his status as a reserve officer. It was that which caused his tragic death. Vernon had a fine war record, and testimony to this will be found in the many air medals he was awarded. He also had a fine civilian record. He was a straightforward, thoroughly reliable, dependable man, a man of fine charm and talents."

Speaking of crackling cold, it was 43 degrees below zero at Bennidji early in the week, at Old Forge in the Adirondack Mountains of upper New York State 47 degrees below. Clearly there are a number of American communities where they will be talking about the winter of 1955 in tones of awe.

Lonely Thule Is

Man Made Miracle

WASHINGTON — You don't realize how far it is to the North Pole until you start flying up there. All day I sat in an Air Force Constellation, flying from the U. S. Air base at Goose Bay, Labrador, to the Thule air base on the northern tip of Greenland. It was a lonely trip — from the scenic viewpoint. Nothing below but arctic wastes, then the icy waters of Baffin bay studded with icebergs — at first little icebergs, then bigger and bigger icebergs. You looked down and wondered what would happen if the engines conked out. Off to the East was the icecap of Greenland, a mountain range of ice, never melting, never changing, inhospitable, uninhabitable ice. Not a square foot on which to land. Or if you did land, your engines freeze and you can't get them unfrozen for months.

But — The engines didn't conk out and we flew on. At 1:45 noon the sun set — dropped right behind the horizon and it was dark. The only reason we saw the sun at all was because we were 15,000 feet high. Down below, on the ground, they couldn't see the sun — hadn't seen it since early November and wouldn't see it until Feb. 26.

We flew on. It was pitch black outside. No more icebergs visible below. Inside, the plane was warm and friendly. For I had invited a group of Broadway stars and the best-looking girls in New York, the Hartford models, to take a pre-Christmas trip and stage a performance for men who live the most isolated lives of any in the world. So to the tune of Ella Logan's singing and the Jumping Jack's playing, we flew on through the arctic night.

TRANSPLANTED CITY
Then suddenly, spread out in the snow were a thousand lights. They were not the Aurora Borealis. They were the lights of man. It was Thule air base. But it was more than an air base. . . . It was a city. . . . A city transplanted from nowhere. . . . A city where wolves had howled, where bear had fished, where a handful of Eskimos once had lived tenaciously on the ice. Yet now the lights of a city suddenly sprang from out of nowhere. . . . A city which turned out to be one of the modern miracles of man.

The plane crunched over the snow to a stop inside a giant hangar. It would be too cold, the pilot, Capt. Roger Larivee, explained, to leave it outside. Not only would the engines freeze, but leaks would develop in the gasoline wing tanks that might take days to repair. The Air Force had loaned us fur-lined parkas and boots, but the cold, when you first felt the full force outside the hangar, was like a faint stab in the chest. It hurt as you inhaled. Yet it was only a little below zero, and when it really gets cold, explained Col. Louis Rohr, the base commander, your flesh freezes in 30 seconds. (Copyright, 1955, by Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Little Black Footprints May Lead To Culprits

Dogs are not at their best on a slanting roof. There may be dogs of which this is not true, just as there are birds that cannot fly and fish that walk, but Gypsy is not an exception to any such rule. A slanting roof is not her natural habitat.

The trouble with Gypsy, who is our youngest dachshund, is that when she gets an idea, she recognizes neither the rules of nature nor her own limitations.

She reasons that there am I, out on the porch roof fixing a leaky place, and there is the open bedroom window through which I reached the roof, so why shouldn't she come out and help? She did. In order to get through the window, Gypsy had to jump from the bedroom floor to clear the window-sill. She cleared it with one U-shaped bound. On the outside, the porch roof was about a foot below the sill. What Gypsy had not counted upon, if she had thought about it at all, was the effect of her momentum upon her equilibrium. She has trouble with words of more than one syllable, anyway.

I had no warning of Gypsy's intention. In fact, I was not even aware that she was in the upstairs bedroom. If I had given her a thought, it would have been to assume that she was somewhere downstairs making life hideous for someone else by cracking her teeth on an old bone. For myself, I had, enough to occupy my mind, what with clinging precariously to the porch roof with both feet, one hand and my center of balance while using the other to smear gobs of sticky black roofing tar around the place that had been letting the water through. The tar probably saved the shrubs below, at the edge of the porch, from an awful beating. I was working up-slope from it when a wild scrambling of claws behind me warned me that something was afoot — or, rather, was trying to get aloft again. There was not time to look around, Gypsy hit me slightly below the small of the back with the force of a landslide. I started unwillingly downhill. I skidded rapidly across the patch of tar, which at first acted like a lubricant.

Chasing a dachshund at top speed across the steep pitch of a porch roof calls for a brand of heroism I do not have. I gave chase, but not exactly with the speed of a frightened deer. My technique was more that of an arthritic measuring worm. I covered a lot of porch that way, though — about six feet of it, not counting my arm reach. I do not think it was sporting of Mrs. F. to make me clean them up. After all, I HAD patched the roof. (Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate)

Upped Budget Tells GOP Campaign Plans

WASHINGTON — Recent developments show the Eisenhower administration proposing action in many fields where they have heretofore been content to hold the knee and leave the initiative to the Democrats.

In one day (last Tuesday) three cabinet members disclosed to press conferences new spending programs. These programs not only contradicted past emphasis on budget-balancing but, in discussing them, the three secretaries implied that the direction they were taking had become a matter of national policy.

Secretary of State Dulles confirmed the administration plan to ask Congress for just under five billion dollars in new foreign aid money, which is 81 per cent more than now spent. He explained that the money was needed to "replenish the pipe lines" so that assistance could go on "for a considerable period of time."

Secretary of Defense Wilson confirmed forecasts that his budget would be about one billion dollars higher than at present. This extra billion will go chiefly for the "wonder weapons." The total defense budget will be about $35,500,000,000. Secretary Folsom of Health, Education and Welfare promised to ask Congress for medical research expenditures "25 to 30 per cent" higher than current outlays. He also said he would propose federal aid for construction of research facilities and for medical education.

The administration's strenuous efforts to expand the farm relief program of perhaps its most-stubborn conservative, Secretary of Agriculture Benson, have been in the news for some time. Benson is to stay, together with his flexible price supports, despite his GOP critics. They have won their fight, however, to force him to suggest new remedies at the next session of Congress.

The Benson reply is not yet ready, but apparently it will include a soil bank and a surplus disposal program of genuine proportions — suggestions originally pressed by Democratic Senators Humphrey and Anderson.

Treasury Secretary Humphrey has not yet committed himself to a tax cut. But he is holding out hope in public and is privately drafting plans for one that will bear the Eisenhower stamp. The significance of all this is not lost on the Democrats, who in the recent past have managed to get a great deal of campaign mileage out of similar moderate proposals of their own.

"They are stealing Lyndon Johnson's clothes," mourned one, referring to the Senate majority leader who has been priding himself on his own state-of-the-union message outlining a moderate legislative program. "Maybe Eisenhower has joined him, but Eisenhower will get the credit."

That is how it will work out politically. And the decision of the administration to step up its actions in politically appealing fields could also have the effect of forcing the Democrats, especially their candidates for President, further to the left.

Since most observers feel that the country is in a moderate mood, that would be an extra dividend of considerable importance to Republicans, whether Eisenhower runs or not. Republicans would like to see Adlai Stevenson in particular forced into more extreme positions. He is the Democrat they fear because he is personally conservative and more moderate in action than other avowed candidates. (Copyright, 1955, by U.F. Syndicate, Inc.)

RICHEST MAN SAYS

Success Is Easier Than Ever

By CHARLES P. ARNOT
International News Service

NEW YORK (INS) — One of the richest men in the world has assured the rest of us that it's still possible in this era of taxes, big tips and tolls to become a millionaire.

And after that? Swedish multi-millionaire Axel L. Wenner-Gren said he has decided that being a successful millionaire is just as big a problem as becoming one.

"You see," he explained, "it is just as difficult to use money wisely and effectively as it is to make it."

This was one of those rare occasions for the 74-year-old industrialist who has put more money into his principal "hobby"—scientific research—than most men will ever see in a lifetime, even on TV. The one-time international "mystery man" threw open the door of his luxurious Waldorf Towers suite, broke a long silence on his own personal success story and met head-on a drumfire of interview questions such as:

Who can become a millionaire these days? Isn't the self-made millionaire a thing of the past?

"Certainly not," the tall, white-haired Wenner-Gren shot back. "There are greater opportunities now than ever before. Since high taxes complicate the problem in some countries, one must not only concentrate on one country. To make money these days, one must expand into the international field. Some countries, Venezuela and Mexico, for example, have low tax rates and offer great opportunities."

What suggestions would he offer enterprising young men who want to go into business?

"I would have these three suggestions: First, go to some good technical college because the business world of today requires sound technical knowledge; Second, learn how to sell—learn the human side of business, and Third, don't be afraid of hard work. It's hard work that gets results."

His own career? How did he start?

"When I was 21, I borrowed $2,000 from my father, and paid it back in two years with 6 per cent interest. I have never borrowed a cent since. I trained myself to be a salesman, then found an article and sold it. The same thing can be done today."

He has been called the wealthiest man in the world. Just how much is he worth?

"I honestly don't know just what I am worth today. When I make money, I try to give it to some worthy enterprise such as one of my scientific research foundations. I know that I have put more than $20 million into these five foundations and will continue to support their important research work. My hobby is scientific research—that and gardening and landscaping."

If he had to choose again, would he go into business?

"Yes, I would be a businessman. Ever since I was a young man, I had a dream to build a business that would have an office in every major city in the world. That dream has now come true. My companies now have offices in all of the big cities in the free world, but I don't know exactly how many people they all employ. At one time, someone showed me an article which said my companies fed 500,000 people, but I don't know the exact figure."

To day, Wenner-Gren controls nearly 100 companies and corporations, including the giant "Electrolux" which brought out the first gas refrigerator and, as he says, "sold millions of them." He also has vast steel holdings in Germany, big foreign investments in Mexico and other interests scattered over three continents.

But he would rather talk about his research foundations into which he is pouring more than $1,000,000 a year.

Four of them are located in his native Sweden. The other is the Wenner-Gren foundation for anthropological research which operates world-wide from New York headquarters. Its operations range as far off as Peru where an institute is busy extracting venom from poisonous snakes.

The latest Wenner-Gren scientific endowment is a Stockholm research center where some of the world's leading scientists—including a half-dozen Nobel prize winners—will exchange information.

Wenner-Gren is starting by erecting $3 million worth of buildings and hopes to have the center completed by 1957.

EDGAR A. GUEST Poet Of The People

BAD SPEECH
He was a gloomy Gus, thought I,
Who told the high school class:
"Your happiest days have journeyed by."

To age and care you pass,
"Life holds no sweeter joys for you
Than those that you have known."

It's very sad, but very true,
Your happiest days have flown!"
If there should be one grain of truth

in what that speaker told,
'Twould take away from all our youth
The joy of growing old.

I'd rather say: "Live valiantly;
Dismiss all doubts and fears,
There's greater happiness to be
Throughout the coming years."

For his devotion to scientific progress, the Swedish government last month conferred on Wenner-Gren its most distinguished honor—commander with the grand cross of the Wasa order.

Foremost among his "garden-ing and landscaping" projects, Wenner-Gren lists his developments in the sunny Bahamas. On Andros Island, a 15-minute flight from Nassau, he has built a whole resort town along his 28 miles of beach front stretching back over 100,000 acres.

In the late thirties, Wenner-Gren wrote a book which began with these words: "Life Is Struggle." That was before World War II, but it held true throughout the late conflict.

Wenner-Gren says he still has not been able to find out why he was included on the U.S. government's wartime "blacklist." He even brought suits against the government, but they were dropped along with the blacklist after the war.

He calls the blacklist action a "foolish move" and points out that he gave England and the U.S. the famous and lethal "Bofors" gun during the war.

Wenner-Gren now hazards the guess that it may have been because he helped the Finns in their "winter war" against Russia. He supplied planes and ammunition to Finland.

With five homes—two in Sweden, two in Mexico and one in Nassau—and all the comforts a man could desire, Wenner-Gren still works at least five and a half days every week. He says that's probably why a battery of doctors could find "absolutely nothing" wrong with him during his last physical check-up.

In his mid-seventies, Wenner-Gren looks more like a man in his fifties, with ruddy cheeks, sparkling blue nordic eyes and a ramrod straight physique.

On business and pleasure trips, his constant companion in his American-born wife, the former Marguerite Gantier of Kansas City, Mo. They met abroad and were married when she was studying to be an opera singer. They have no children.

"You can correct what I said earlier," Wenner-Gren broke in with his slight accent. "I think I am the richest man in the world. I don't mean from material wealth, but from what I get out of life."

The Farm Problem

Omaha, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Getting down to brass tacks about what to do about the farm surplus I think we all want to do what is for the greatest good of the greatest number. That means we wish to do that which is economically sound for the good old U.S.A.

I doubt if any of us know much about schoolbook economics. For an humble man like me it is comforting to learn that economists of ten differ widely. All I can make out of it is that if we produce more than we consume we have a surplus and the producer starts cutting prices in order to get "his." If there is scarcity, every consumer starts bidding up in order to get "his."

It looks as though a happy state would be to produce just enough, not too much, so the normal demand will be supplied at a figure the consumer can afford to pay and the producer afford to sell. But what a big field is that to play in!

From what I can learn our state of general intelligence has never yet told us how to arrive there, except generally speaking. However, we can keep trying and use what ever method seems best until we find a better one. It seems plain that there are times when there is nothing big enough to control a runaway, lopsided economic condition but the U.S. government.

It is also plain that it is either overproduction or underconsumption right now.

Let us keep our eyes focused for the time being on how to solve the present crisis by increasing consumption. But let us not let the farmer go broke while we are hunting for it.

Wright Overlooked

Berwyn, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: "Strange As It Seems" Elsie Hicks surely missed the boat in her cartoon of December 17 when she said the world's motorcycle speed record of John Allen at Bonneville Flats was the first time that the record has ever been held by the U.S.A.

In the early 1900's a young man in Hammondspont, N. Y., built and rode a motorcycle to a world's record of 137 miles per hour at Ormond Beach, Fla. The exact year was 1907.

Later he became interested in airplanes, built and flew one of his own design at Rheims, France (August 29, 1909) setting the world's speed record at that time for air flight. He also carried the first air mail of which we have any record. He went on and became one of the three world's greatest airplane designers and builders.

His name was Glenn Curtis.

$5.4 Million Bid Low On LAFB Housing

Turned In By Dallas Contractor

The J. W. Bateson Construction Co. of Dallas, Tex., has submitted the low bid of $5,461,750.25 for construction of 400 housing units at the Lincoln Air Force Base, an opening Thursday revealed.

The bids were opened at the City Hall in Lincoln by Col. Thomas J. Hayes of the Omaha District, Army Corps of Engineers. The opening in Lincoln was a courtesy extended the city by the Corps.

The Bateson bid was over the government's estimate of $4,929,113.58 but optimism was still expressed that an award could be made. The government estimate did not include all outside utility work or the usual government provision for a 10 per cent profit to the contractor.

Second low bidder on the 30 single family homes and 185 duplexes was Olson Construction Co. at $5,468,752.22.

Plans and specifications for the development were drawn by Selmar A. Solheim. The structures, two, three and four bedrooms, will be frame with brick veneer, he said, and have a colonial ranch style architecture.

The units will house 100 officers' families and 300 enlisted men's families. The first 75 units are to be ready within 350 days, the next 31 within 390 days, the next 45 within 540 days and the remainder within 660 days from award of a contract.

Other bidders on the project and their quotations were Johnson, Drake and Piper, Minneapolis, Minn., $5,940,708; C. H. Leavell and Co., El Paso, Tex., $5,748,563.82; Korshoj Construction Co., Blair, Neb., $5,599,012.17; Breznia Construction Co. and Buckingham Wood Products, Rapid City, S. D., $5,567,406.30.

Col. Hayes spoke briefly of the Lincoln Base project as a defense project and thus a "part of the responsibility that has accompanied our rise to a dominant position in the world. It is a consequence of the nakedness in which we found ourselves when jet aircraft, stratospheric missiles and nuclear warheads wiped out the protection of our oceans."

Before an award on the bids can be made, all quotations will be submitted to Air Force officials in Washington, D.C.

Injured Youth Spends Night In Hen House

A Lincoln youth, injured in a car accident, spent a lonely night early Thursday unattended in a chicken shack near Bennet, it was revealed Thursday afternoon.

Dale Rodaway, 19, of 3230 L, suffered a broken collar bone, numerous face cuts, and had seven stitches taken in his lower lip when his car rolled over twice. He told the Safety Patrol he had gone to sleep after taking a girl friend home.

Trooper Del Whitefoot said Rodaway crawled away from the broken wreckage of his car and stumbled to a farmhouse nearby. The farmer, Harry Kettlehut of Bennet, was on vacation. Rodaway tried to enter the house but found it locked. He spent the early morning until around 7 a.m. in a chicken shed. He said he passed out from shock following the accident.

In the morning, he was awakened by the cold, Whitefoot said, and went over to the home where he crawled through a basement window. He was found in the house by a farm laborer, who was unidentified, and was taken shortly to a doctor's office in Hickman.

Rodaway was reported in fair condition, and was expected to be brought back to Lincoln. He is employed by the State Farm Mutual Insurance Co.

L.A. Girl, 9, Is Twice Kidnaped, Molested Within Hour's Time

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A 9-year-old girl told police that different men kidnaped her twice within an hour from a downtown bus station.

Juvenile officers, who declined to give her name, said that while her mother was buying a ticket the child was lured from a popcorn machine by a man who said:

"Come with me. I have a Christmas present for you."

He took her to a pickup truck and drove her around for several minutes and molested her, officers said.

Then he let her out near the station and while she was standing, weeping, another man pulled her into an alley and tried to attack her. Her screams drove him off.

A passer-by called police. At a receiving hospital, doctors said she had not been raped.

French May Up Forces In Algeria

Rebels Worse Premier Told

PARIS (AP)—Premier Edgar Faure and his top aids, in the middle of a hot election campaign, Thursday considered a hurry-up request for 60,000 more troops to keep order in troubled Algeria.

Nationalist terrorism mounted in the area, technically administered as part of France, and rebel propagandists spread handbills saying worse was yet to come.

The call for reinforcements was made by Resident General Jacques Soustelle and reportedly got favorable consideration at a meeting including Premier Faure and the government committee to coordinate North African affairs.

Quick Look
However, Faure decided to send his top personal adviser, Jacques Duhamel, for a quick look. Duhamel is expected to talk to Soustelle, make an on-the-scene inspection and get back to Paris within a week. By then, the Jan. 2 elections would be virtually upon the government. The results would clear the way for action.

The new troops would augment more than 320,000 already in North Africa, mostly in Algeria. Estimates of troops now in Algeria run from 170,000 to 200,000. Rebel numbers may be less than 10,000.

The attacks by rebels continued Thursday, with about half a dozen reported incidents and six known dead in the last 24 hours. The figure is clouded by poor communications in Algeria which delay reports up to 24 hours or more. In the preceding 24-hour period upward of 89 persons were killed.

Officers Safe After Crash In Canada Storm

WINNIPEG, Man. (AP)—Three U.S. Air Force officers including one Omaha man who were forced to spend a sub-zero night by their plane that crashed-landed in northwestern Ontario Wednesday night walked through deep snow to safety Thursday.

Within hours the men were on their way to their home base at Minneapolis.

Lost in a blinding snowstorm, the plane came down on a snow-covered clearing about seven miles northwest of Graham, Ont.

The pilot, Capt. H. W. Burch of Omaha, Neb., co-pilot, Capt. D. L. Stover of East Beckley, W. Va. and chaplain, Maj. E. R. Veatch of Drake, N. D., escaped injury although the plane clipped several trees and dropped into the snow as darkness closed in over the isolated area.

The three spent the night—the temperature dropped to 13 degrees below zero—warming themselves over a brush fire, then trekked one mile through the snow at dawn to a Canadian National Railway station at Oscar, Ont.

They had taken off from Sioux Lookout, 80 miles to the north, on a 350-mile flight to Minneapolis.

Inmates Raise $382 To Buy Kids Presents

State Penitentiary inmates raised $382 to purchase gifts for the Home for Children in Lincoln.

The funds came from men whose salaries range from 25 to 50 cents a day.

Inmates themselves conducted the drive for money.

Two life-termers and Associate Warden Robert Rudell purchased the gifts at a wholesale house in Omaha.

Holiday Mail Still Higher Than In Past

Figures released Thursday by Superintendent of Mails Gerald Jones showed that 1955 holiday mail was still running ahead of that of last year, in the Lincoln Post Office.

For the first 21 days of December increases were shown in all categories except outgoing parcel post which dropped 1 per cent from that of last year. The largest increase was shown in outgoing first class mail with 13.3 per cent increase over the same period last year.

Incoming first class mail totaled 134,911 pounds against 125,128 pounds last year for an increase of 7.8 per cent. Incoming parcel post was up 5.9 per cent with a total of 887,455 pounds to last year's 837,654 pounds. Other classes showed a 12.6 per cent increase with a total of 265,137 pounds compared to 235,412 last year.

Outgoing first class mail was up 13.3 per cent with 147,728 pounds to last year's 130,470. Outgoing parcel post, down 1 per cent over last year, totaled 62,089 pounds to 772,297 in 1954. Other outgoing classes registered a 5.6 per cent increase with 445,928 pounds processed compared to 421,889 in 1954.

Syria Makes Formal Proposal To Oust Israel From U.N. As Attack Penalty

By William N. Oatis
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Syria formally proposed a resolution Thursday to expel Israel from the U.N.
Syrian Delegate Ahmed Shukairy laid it before the Security Council, which under the rules will vote on it only if a member so requests.
The Council recessed over Christmas without any action except an appeal by its president, Sir Leslie Munro of New Zealand for peace in the troubled land.
Shukairy said expulsion was necessary to punish Israel for an attack 11 days ago on Syrian outposts east of the Sea of Galilee and to deter her from future attacks on Arab countries.

Penalties
The resolution also would condemn Israel for that assault, call on the U.N.'s 76 member nations to apply economic penalties against Israel and decide that that country should compensate Syria for all losses.
Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban, in quick reply urged that any resolution the council passed should order Syria to avoid interfering with Israeli activities on the sea, also called Lake Tiberias.
Shukairy and Eban are not members of the Council. They spoke by invitation of the Council.
The body of water in the controversy and the land around lie inside Israel, though Israeli northwestern shore is only a 10-yard strip. Israel says Syrian outposts often fire on Israeli fishing boats and police launches there.
Eban introduced what he said were Syrian Army orders captured in the Israeli raid showing that Syria claimed the waters up to more than 250 yards off shore and had instructed its outposts to shoot at any Israeli vessels entering that zone.

Considerations
Just before the Council adjourned Arkady A. Sobolev, Soviet delegate said the Syrian resolution raised serious considerations and should be thoroughly studied.
He did not, however, oppose the adjournment. The Council is not expected to meet again until January unless the situation worsens.
There has been some speculation by delegates that the Soviet Union might sponsor the Syrian resolution as an evidence of closer links between the Soviet bloc and Syria but Sobolev gave no hint of such a step Thursday.
The meeting, held at the U.N. in the midst of a snowstorm which delayed delegates en route here, was the second in seven days on Syria's complaint over the Israeli attack. Before Council members was a new report from the U.N. Palestine truce chief, Canadian Maj. Gen. Edson L. M. Burns, terming the raid a "deliberate violation" of the 1949 Israeli-Syrian armistice agreement and saying any use of force should be strongly condemned.
Shukairy noted that the U.N. Charter provides (in Article 6) that any member violating its U.N. obligations may be expelled by the General Assembly on recommendation of the Security Council.

The Simple Truth
WASHINGTON (AP)—Things were changing all over the place with the announcement Wednesday that Ford Motor Co. would sell some of its stock.
The man giving out the information in Washington introduced himself as E. Jeffcoat, Dearborn, Mich., the man in charge of stockholder relations.
"That's new isn't it?" asked a newsman.
"Never needed one before," was the laconic reply.

Minister Landlord Evicts Family Of 8 Owing $30 Rent

PINELLAS PARK, Fla. (AP)—A family with six small children was evicted from its three-room home Thursday for nonpayment of rent on orders from the landlord, a nondominational minister. Neighbors took care of them temporarily.
Deputy Sheriff Wilbur James reported the mother, Mrs. Robert Chyle, said the children all had colds. She pleaded to be allowed to stay until Friday.
James added that the landlord, the Rev. Ray Hanselman, "was there and told me 'I want them out immediately.'"
Chyle, who is in the junk business, was not at home.

3 Weeks Rent
The deputy said the family owed three weeks' rent, a total of $30, and the eviction order was signed by County Clerk Avery Gikerson at the request of an attorney for Hanselman. Hanselman is pastor of the Community Church here.
James said he had served one eviction notice on the family 20 days ago and another last week.
Police Chief Ellis DeVoe said many neighbors wept as the family's belongings were carried out by two county jail trustees.
Residents of this little town have begun taking up donations to give the family a good Christmas.

Small Load Truck Rate Raise OK'd

The State Railway Commission Thursday announced approval on a temporary basis of the Nebraska Motor Carriers' request for an increase in rates on minimum shipments.
The revised charges will be $1.50 for distances of 50 miles or less, and $3 for distances beyond 50 miles.
The present charge is $1.38 for distances up to 50 miles, and the applicable rate for 100 pounds for distances in excess of 50 miles.
The minimum charge for all shipments moving over two or more lines will be $3.
The change is effective Jan. 15. Evidence at the recent hearing was calculated to show present charges are not adequate to meet cost of operation.

Grand Jury Petitioners Hire Lawyer

Lincoln attorney Joseph Ginsburg has been retained by petitioners to meet with the Lancaster District Court judges to show cause why a grand jury should be called to investigate state penal institutions, Richard M. Baker of 2045 East Manor Drive said Thursday.
Baker, the leader in a drive to have a grand jury look into recent riots and fires at the state Penitentiary and the Men's Reformatory, said the goal remained to have the jury called.

Hruska To Vote Against Foreign Aid Proposal

OMAHA (AP)—Sen. Hruska (R-Neb) said Thursday he'll vote against the Administration's $4,900,000,000 foreign aid proposal "unless I find some every persuasive reasons for it."
He said he didn't want to "prejudge the issue," however.
Secretary of State Dulles has asked for three billion dollars in foreign military aid and another 1.9 billion dollars in foreign economic aid for the next fiscal year, an increase of 2.2 billions over foreign spending this year.
"I will look very, very carefully at any request for additional appropriations," Hruska said.
"This request is a violation of what we understood at the beginning of this foreign aid program," he said. "When it started 10 years ago, we thought it was to be a temporary thing."

Twelve pages of wholesome colored comics, feature stories with plenty of pictures and the big entertainment section are a few reasons why nearly every one reads The "Sunday Journal and Star."

A second petition, containing 1,145 signatures was filed on Sept. 29. The court ordered the petitioners to show cause why the petition should or should not be denied.
A previous petition filed earlier failed to contain enough —726— qualified signatures.
The court, in giving reasons for its action, outlined in the order that "the calling of the grand jury would occasion a substantial and burdensome expense to the taxpayers of Lancaster County."
The court order also said that the petition did not "describe, call for an investigation of, or allege the commission of any specific crimes nor allege the failure of the regular law enforcement officers to perform their duties in the detection and punishment of crime."

Mamie Side-Steps Politics Quiz, Guides Conversation To New Grandchild

...Baby 'Looks Like An Eisenhower'

By RUTH COWAN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower laughingly side-stepped a question about politics Thursday. But, about that new grandchild—

Well, in the first lady's proud opinion baby Mary Jean, born Wednesday, "looks like an Eisenhower."
"She has that broad look across her face," she went on. And David, now 7, the oldest of the four grandchildren in the first family, looks like his granddad, President Eisenhower.

Joined Them
Mrs. Eisenhower had just come from Walter Reed Hospital where she had visited her daughter-in-law Barbara. She overheard some women reporters, getting a preview of White House Christmas decorations, chatting and she joined them.

The first lady looked well—a bit thinner by 10 pounds, she said—and she was in gay spirits.
Beneath her full-length mink coat she wore a holly red dress. On the crown of her narrow-brimmed holly red hat was a floral design in sequins. Her gloves were a matching red.

2 Christmases
The youngsters will have two Christmas trees. The first will be on the guest room floor. That is so the President can sleep a little longer. "I'm told that David was up at 3 o'clock in the morning last Christmas," Mrs. Eisenhower said.

Somewhat later—but still early, for the President is an early riser—the youngsters will come down to presidential quarters where all will receive their presents with Eisenhower in the role of Santa Claus but not in costume.

Mrs. John Sheldon Doud, Mrs. Eisenhower's mother, arrived from Denver Wednesday. Mrs. Eisenhower said Barbara's mother, Mrs. Percy Walter Thompson, may be here for a visit during the holidays. Col. Thompson is a retired Army officer.

As Mrs. Eisenhower turned to leave, she was asked if she was making any political resolutions for the new year. "I don't make resolutions," she laughed.

1316 'N' St.
The new baby is the second Christmas child in the younger Eisenhowers' family. Susan, who has been displaced as the baby, will be 4 years old Dec. 31. The fourth youngster, Barbara Anne, is 6.

Maj. Eisenhower is stationed at nearby Ft. Belvoir and he is bringing David and his two sisters to the White House Christmas Eve. It is expected the doctors will let Barbara come to the White House for about two hours and Mrs. Eisenhower said the family will have Christmas dinner "whenever Barbara can be here."

Fairbury Rejects Centennial Plans
Lincoln Star Special
FAIRBURY, Neb. — Jefferson County will not celebrate its 100th anniversary in 1956 unless some town in the county other than Fairbury will sponsor it.

The Fairbury Chamber of Commerce voted down signing of a contract with a professional producing company which would have aided in sponsoring the event.

President of the Chamber, Gale Stilwell attributed the no vote to lack of enthusiasm among persons whose leadership would be required to plan the centennial.

Craig 'Pressured' To Run Against Capehart In '56
INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. George N. Craig said Thursday he is "under heavy pressure" to oppose Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind) for the senatorial nomination next year but added he has so far "re-sisted the demands."

Craig, an early Eisenhower supporter, said, however, he is dissatisfied with Capehart's voting record on the President's program. He said some of the urging has come from Washington.

An Indiana constitutional provision prevents a governor from succeeding himself. Craig previously had said he would return to private law practice.

"When we're working so hard now to get harmony and reunite the party (in Indiana), I'm amazed he would make such statements," said Capehart, when told of Craig's remarks.

Probe Planned
WASHINGTON (INS)—A Senate investigation was announced what was called the "rate" with which the Pentagon awards military supply contracts without advertising for competitive bids. Chairman John Sparkman (D-Ala.) of the Senate small Business Committee, and Smathers (D-Fla.), said an "intensive" investigation of defense procurement policies will be conducted next March by a small business subcommittee headed by Smathers.

Midnight Mass Planned At Air Base Chapel
Catholic Midnight mass Christmas Eve at the Lincoln Air Force Base Chapel will be the only one in Lincoln.
The Cathedral High School girl's glee club will sing carols during the Mass. A second LAFB mass will be said at noon, Christmas day.

Long Return Trek
RABAT, Morocco (INS) — Five hundred indignant tribesmen and their camels started a 600-mile return trek to the Spanish Sahara without getting a chance to pay homage to Sultan Mohammed Ben Youssef of Morocco.
The tribesmen started their long camel journey to Rabat four weeks ago to join in the belated celebration of the Sultan's return from exile.
But they were barred from entering Rabat at a point 50 miles away, and were unable even to get a glimpse of the Sultan's cream-walled palace.

NOT ENOUGH POLIO SHOTS BEING USED

... Some May Spoil

Only a few parents have availed themselves so far of the free polio vaccine which has been shipped out under the current program, according to reports from doctors to the State Health Department.

Allen Rouse, director of the department's vaccine distribution program, suggested the holiday vacation would be a good time for parents to have their children vaccinated.

The proportion of children being vaccinated is being reduced further by the fact doctors will not vaccinate a child who has a cold or sore throat, Rouse explained.

Some of the vaccine is dated to expire Jan. 1 and must be used this month or it will be lost, he added.

Sale Of Savings Bonds Up In '55

Purchases of United States savings bonds in Nebraska during November showed an increase of 3.9 per cent over the same month a year ago, Glenn Cunningham, state director for the Treasury's Savings Bond Division announced.

For the 11-month period ending November 30, individual bond buyers in Nebraska had invested $99,687,551 in series E and H Savings bonds.

Purchases during November totaled $7,148,963. That was the highest dollar volume for any November since World War II.

Forty-nine Nebraska counties showed higher sales than November a year ago.

Gage Co. School Consolidation Gains Momentum

Three More Districts File Merger Plans

BEATRICE, Neb. (P)—The trend toward consolidation of school districts appears to be gaining momentum in Gage County.

Petitions were filed last week in the office of County Superintendent of Schools Lester H. Reid for the merging of three more districts.

At one time Gage County had 158 school districts, but today there are 113.

Two thirds of the 113 districts are one-teacher schools and one fifth are not operating schools.

There are now 227 students in the county in classes by themselves.

By 1957 some 15 districts may be affected by a recent law requiring county superintendents to dissolve all schools which are not operating but are contracting for instruction five years after the effective date of the law and also those schools closed when the law went into effect and remaining closed through 1957-1958.

"I feel that in the near future every individual in Gage County as well as in the State of Nebraska will be a part of a complete educational program—that is everyone will be part of a school that has classes from the kindergarten to the 12th grade," Reid said.

'Bonus' Hospital Fund Is Doubled By $10,000 Gift

TECUMSEH, Neb. (P)—A gift of $10,000 from the Campbell Soup Fund has boosted the Tecumseh hospital fund campaign to double its goal of $30,000.

In addition, the fund will also match dollar for dollar the donations by workers of the C. A. Swanson & Sons Tecumseh plant. The 200 employees have contributed $4,600.

C. A. Swanson & Sons, which recently affiliated with the Campbell Soup Company, has operated a plant here since 1927. Since its organization in 1953, the Campbell Soup Fund has assumed much of the responsibility for the company's educational and charitable contributions.

The Tecumseh hospital committee set out a week ago to raise at least $30,000 from local citizens as their "bonus" share in the proposed Johnson County Hospital to be located here.

Northern U.S. Expecting Snow

Snow is forecast for Friday for the northern tier of states from the Great Lakes to the Rockies, while rain is expected in the central Pacific states and parts of the Great Basin region and northern Rockies. It will be warmer in the eastern half of the U.S., except for New England and the upper Mississippi Valley. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Sudden Drop In High Protein Wheat Market Will Be Probed

SIDNEY, Neb. (P)—The Commodity Corp. has promised Nebraska wheat growers it will investigate a sudden drop in the high protein wheat market.

The CCC told the Nebraska Wheat Growers Assn. the investigation will be made in response to a request from the association. Within the last two weeks, the bottom has dropped out of the high protein wheat market, the growers said.

Whereas a fortnight ago there was a 20-cent spread between ordinary and high protein wheat, grain sought for its excellent milling and baking characteristics—the gap now is down to three cents.

Wheatmen said early this month, the CCC extended two mills the privilege of buying export wheat at terminals and exchanging the grain for that stored at interior points.

This means a mill can purchase, for purposes of an example, 100 cars of cheap wheat at some terminal and then, on paper, exchange it for 100 cars of high protein government wheat stored in such areas as the Nebraska Panhandle, the growers said.

By such a transaction, the mills can obtain the high priced "good" wheat at the same cost of low quality wheat, they contended.

Reorganization Plan Suggested For Richardson

FALLS CITY, Neb. (P)—Donald Bush of the state department of education has recommended to the Richardson County school reorganizing committee that it plan a referendum on a reorganization plan in two years.

He suggested the two-year target date because many school districts in the county will be subject to dissolution under the state law at that time since they have not been operating schools.

Bush urged the county committee to undertake a series of educational meetings at various points in the county to put the arguments for reorganization before the people.

Heywood Is Appointed To Kansas State Post

Gilligan Coming Home With Father; Stevenson Better

GOSHEN, Ind. (P)—Hospital authorities Thursday reported that James F. Gilligan, 19, Nebraska City, Neb., who was injured in a truck crash Wednesday was in "satisfactory" condition Thursday morning.

His father, Dr. J. P. Gilligan, arrived by air Wednesday night to be with him and the two are planning to leave soon for Nebraska City.

Gilligan and John F. Stevenson, 19, son of Presidential Candidate Adlai Stevenson, were injured in the crash, but two of their Harvard University classmates were killed.

Young Stevenson also was reported in satisfactory condition. Killed in the crash were William Stanley North III, 19, Lake Forest, Ill., and William C. Boyden Jr., 19, Chicago.

Meanwhile, Frederick Gill, 29, the Detroit driver whose truck collided with the Stevenson car, was indicted by an Elkhart County grand jury Thursday for involuntary manslaughter and reckless homicide.

Witnesses said Gill went into a left hand lane in attempting to pass a slower truck and collided with the Stevenson car at the top of an overpass.

Women's Division Of Chamber Eyed

CHADRON, Neb. (P)—The Chadron Chamber of Commerce is studying the possibility of establishing a women's division.

Robert Fouse, new chamber president said the need for such a group has been felt for a long time.

"As it is now women are hesitant to go to a Chamber meeting where there are 60 men and only one or two women," Fouse said.

The organization would include professional and non-professional women.

Turncoat John Charged By Bonn With Treason

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP)—The South German radio reported Thursday night West Germany's former security chief, Dr. Otto John, has been charged with suspected treason. He returned Dec. 12 after 16 months in Communist East Germany.

The broadcast said a warrant has been served on John because there is danger he might flee or try to cover up his activities.

There was no immediate confirmation of the report from official sources. Dr. Carl Wiechmann, chief prosecutor of the Supreme Court, refused to comment, but scheduled a news conference for Friday morning on the John case. Karlsruhe is the seat of the court.

Immediately Questioned

On his return, John immediately was questioned by an examining Supreme Court judge to see if there were any grounds for a treason charge against him. John last was reported under questioning at federal criminal police headquarters in Wiesbaden.

Described as "the man with a thousand secrets," John spent two million dollars a year on counterintelligence for the Bonn government before he turned up in the Communist zone July 20, 1954, and announced he was there to stay.

Penn Rail Walkout Is Delayed

... Pact Progress Seen

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The threatened strike at midnight Thursday by 22,500 Pennsylvania Railroad nonoperating employees was postponed indefinitely exactly seven hours before the deadline.

The Transport Workers Union agreed to a request by spokesmen for the nation's biggest railroad after both sides reported "progress" in efforts to write a new labor contract.

The negotiators for the PRR and the union set Jan. 4 for the next session to give both sides an opportunity to study a presidential fact-finding board's recommendation providing wage increases between 10 1/2 and 14 1/2 cents an hour, which was accepted Wednesday by nationwide railroads and unions speaking for some 775,000 workers.

'Some Progress'

Frank Sheehan, TWU's director of organization, said "some progress was made" in Thursday's all-day negotiations and "that's why we agreed to the company's request to delay our walkout."

Guy W. Knight, director of labor relations in the PRR's personnel department, described Thursday's talks as providing "considerable progress." He said the railroad "needed time to study the other wage settlements which were announced only yesterday."

He added:

"Both the union and the carrier feel there should be further discussion on the wage issues already settled by other railroads."

NAS Accident Probe Ends; Word Held Up

Three naval officers Thursday were finishing their investigation of Sunday's tragic jet plane accident at the Lincoln Naval Air Station and were expected to leave here around Friday noon, a Navy spokesman said.

No immediate announcement of results was expected, however.

Three persons were killed, six aircraft destroyed and a huge hangar burned to the ground when a jet fighter plane suddenly ran wild under full power on the flight line.

The three-man investigative board was appointed by Rear Admiral Daniel V. Gallery of Glenview, Ill., chief of Naval Air Reserve Training.

Their findings will be submitted to the admiral for review and any announcement of them will come from the admiral or higher authority, a spokesman said.

Price Drops

TORONTO (INS)—The Abitibi Power and Paper Co., Ltd., canceled a $5 per ton increase in the price of newsprint and announced instead a $4 per ton boost effective Jan. 1. The $5 increase originally was put in effect Nov. 1.

Other newsprint companies are expected to take similar action and it is generally anticipated the price boost will level off to $4 a ton. In addition to Abitibi other Canadian newsprint manufacturers had announced increases ranging from $3 to $5 per ton.

8 Local Students Vie For 3-Month AFS Scholarships

Names of eight students from Lincoln high schools have been submitted as American Field Service Scholarship candidates.

The scholarships provides an exchange of students between the United States and foreign countries.

Students were selected by a committee of high school students, scholarship returnees, high school faculty members and community representatives.

The students will live in foreign countries for a period of three months. John R. Baylor, Lincoln attorney and six-state representative of the American Field Service, said.

Names submitted from Northeast High School juniors are Sharon Janike, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Janike; Jeanne Davis, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Laurence R. Davis; David Plum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mogens Plum and Fred Ulrich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ulrich.

Lincoln High School junior candidates are Jim Cadwallader, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Ned Cadwallader; Bill Orwig, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Orwig; Judy Hanneman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Hannemann and Saranne Ray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Winfield Ray.

Accidents Rise

NEW YORK (INS)—Accidental deaths in the United States in 1955 are expected to reach about 92,000, about two thousand more than last year.

Statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. said the increase can be attributed entirely to motor vehicle fatalities which this year jumped about 2,500 to reach about 38,500.

Home accidents are expected to account for about 27,000 deaths, a slight improvement over 1954.

Lewis Injured

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Comedian Jerry Lewis is taking hot baths and other home treatments for a back injury suffered when he took a bad fall on his television show Dec. 13.

Physicians say they will know in a week whether he will have to undergo an operation for removal of a cyst in his back.

International Suit

LISBON (INS)—The Foreign Ministry said Portugal has started a suit in the International Court of Justice at the Hague against India's occupation of some of its territory. The Foreign Ministry said India had occupied the territories of Dadra and Nagar-Aveli, on the Gulf of Cambay, on India's west coast starting in July, 1954.

His arrival in East Germany set off Bonn's greatest postwar scandal. There were charges that he had used his post—as head of the Office for the Protection of the Constitution—for a Communist spy center.

Branded A Traitor

The West German government officially branded him a traitor in his absence. But Interior Minister Gerhard Schroeder told a parliamentary investigating committee only a day before John's return he did not believe the former security chief went East with any traitorous intention.

After his arrival in East Germany, John said the Bonn regime was dominated by Nazis and he wanted to work for the reunification of Germany. The Communists at first used him as a mouthpiece for Red blasts against the West. But as time went on, he made fewer and fewer appearances.

John made his escape from East Berlin Dec. 12 with the aid of a Danish newsman, Hendrik Bond-Hendriksen.

Envoys Meet

GENEVA (INS)—U.S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson and Chinese Communist Ambassador Wang Ping-nan met for nearly two hours but failed to make any progress in their talks.

It was the 31st such meeting and the next session was scheduled for Jan. 12.

Johnson again raised the question of 13 Americans imprisoned by the Communists. He said his objectives remained: to obtain release of all Americans held by China; and to induce Peking to renounce the use of force.

Party Robbery Fatal

CHICAGO (AP)—An insurance company manager collapsed of a heart attack Thursday as two masked gunmen invaded his office during a Christmas party. The gunmen escaped with $2,500 delivered just 10 minutes earlier to the South Side office of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

MRS. THEODORE W. BARGER

Mary Janet Reed Weds

Red poinsettias, against the green of Christmas trees, appointed the chancel and garlands of evergreen marked the processional aisle of Christ Methodist Church where the marriage of Miss Mary Janet Reed, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. Burkett Reed, to Ens. Theodore Wesley Barger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted E. Barger, took place on Thursday evening, Dec. 22. The 8 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Lloyd Watt, and Mrs. Watt, organist, who played the wedding music also accompanied the vocal soloist, Robert Gibb.

Iridescent red taffeta was chosen for the costumes of the attendants including Miss Marion Whitworth, the maid of honor; Miss Susan Reed, Miss Teresa Lilly, Mrs. William Hein, Jr., of Alliance; Miss Blythe Thomsen, Beatrice, and Mrs. John Michael Lawlor of Waco, Tex. Each carried a spray of holly, and each wore a bandeau of holly in her hair.

Keith G. Mumby of Harrison served Ens. Barger as best man, and the ushers were Lt. (jg) Harlan H. Wiederspan, Pensacola, Fla.; Miller Whitman, John L. Reed, Lt. Charles Swingle, William H. Hein, Jr., Alliance, and Larry Holmquist of Omaha.

The bridal gown of silk peau de soie, in the antique white tone, was designed with a long-sleeved, sculptured bodice, in which the shoulder-wide neckline was patterned with pearls and crystal paillettes, which extended to hip-length where the jeweled motif was repeated on the embroidered lace. The exceedingly bouffant skirt was completed with a cathedral train. Her tiered veil of illusion was held to the head with a starched lace cloche of pearl-encrusted petals, and she carried a bouquet of white fringed carnations centered with white orchids.

Ens. Barger and his bride, following the reception in the church parlors, left for a honeymoon trip to southern California and Mexico after which they will go to San Diego, where the bridegroom is stationed, to reside.

For traveling Mrs. Barger wore a gray wool suit with black accessories.

The bride attended Monticello Women's College, Alton, Ill., and was graduated from the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. She served as a countess in the 1955 Court of Ak-Sar-Ben.

Ens. Barger also was graduated from the University of Nebraska where he is a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity of which he served as president.

PTA Group Carol Tour

The December meeting of Norwood Park PTA was held Tuesday evening in the school auditorium. During the short business meeting, the pupils of Miss Betty Conroy received the attendance banner of the month.

Following the meeting, the PTA members and their children went on a caroling tour of shut-ins in the school district. In charge of transportation were John Lebsack, Chester Rung and Bob Thurman, and care for preschool children of the members was provided by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dormer and Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Thompson.

AFTERNOON

Lincoln Druggists Wives, 1 o'clock Christmas luncheon at the home of Mrs. R. E. Weirich, 2730 Sheridan.

LAFB Officers Wives and husbands of 307th bomb wing, 4:30 to 6:30 o'clock egg nog party at the Officers Club on the base.

THERE was news to be had this morning, and though not all of it involves the Christmas theme we have numerous holiday guests to mention—One of the guests, Miss Christine Carol Sinclair who, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Sinclair of Sidney—will be in Lincoln for the holidays, was Lincoln's first Christmas baby in 1934. So, on Christmas day when all of the family is at the home of Miss Christine's grandmother, Mrs. Irving R. Dana, the festivities not only will celebrate Christmas, but also Christine's birthday.

Mrs. Sinclair and her daughter, by the way, already are in Lincoln and are guests at the home of Mrs. Sinclair's mother, Mrs. Dana, where they will be joined on Saturday by Mr. Sinclair.

Coming from Omaha on Christmas day will be Mrs. Dana's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Irving R. Dana, Jr., their son, Irving, III—and their daughter, Dawn; Mrs. Dana Jr.'s parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hewett; and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Bacon and their daughter, Cheryl.

ARRIVING in Lincoln on Wednesday were Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Hubbard and their daughter, Constance Ann, who have come from Lake Geneva, Wis., to remain until Monday as the guests of Dr. Hubbard's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Orme.

TO Anne and Dick Wegener, daughter and son of Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Wegener of Ann Arbor, Mich., the trip to Lincoln for the holidays is just a little more than a visit with their grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. Karl Wegener—it is their first train ride. Eagerly anticipating the arrival of the foursome from Ann Arbor, in addition to their grandparents, are Anne and Dick's great-grandmother, Mrs. Clara Snyder, and some small cousins, Gary and Sally Gilmour, children of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Gilmour.

Dr. Wegener is working on his Master's Degree in public health dentistry at the University of Michigan.

HEAR that Tom Roberts arrived earlier this week from Ft. Collins, Colo., where he is attending Colorado A. and M., to spend the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren T.

Roberts. Arriving on Friday will be Bill Roberts, who comes from New Haven, Conn., where he is a student at Yale University.

OTHER news this morning has to do with the arrival of a son on Thursday, Dec. 22, to Mr. and Mrs. James W. Kelso of Pacific Palisades, Calif. The baby's mother is the former JoAnn Kinsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. D. Kinsey, and the paternal grandmother is Mrs. Ann Kelso.

SOMEONE told us that Augusta French—former Nebraska coed and resident of Lincoln, is in the cast of "The Boy Friend," English comedy and Broadway hit which now is on tour.

Wedding In Tucson

MRS. WILLIAM J. WARWICK

At 4 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 17, the marriage of Miss Marcia Jane Beckley, daughter of Mrs. Harry A. Beckley of York, to Lt. William J. Warwick, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Warwick, Detroit, Mich., was solemnized at St. Michael's and All Angels Church, Episcopal, in Tucson, Ariz. The Rev. Clinton Fowler read the service.

The matron of honor and only attendant, Mrs. Clark Van Nostrand (the former Patsy Schultz of York), appeared in a waltz-length frock of jade green iridescent taffeta.

Lt. Paul Prechel served Lt. Warwick as best man, and the ushers included Lt. Derald Nordbrock and Lt. William Webb.

The bride chose a gown of tulle and Chantilly lace over satin for her wedding. The snugly fitted bodice of lace was designed with a portrait neckline contoured with hard-clippled lace scallops and the lace, in an applique motif, was repeated on the voluminous skirt of tulle. A Juliet cap of pearls held to the head her fingertip veil of illusion, and she carried a cascade of carnations and lilies-of-the-valley centered with a white orchid.

After the reception, held at the Officers Club of the Davis-Monthan Air Base, where Lt. Warwick is stationed, the Air Force officer and his bride left for a honeymoon trip to Guaymas, Mexico.

The bride attended school in Munich, Germany, and took her freshman year in college at MacMurray, Jacksonville, Ill. She was graduated from the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. Lt. Warwick attended Wayne University in Detroit.

MRS. GEORGE T. WALL

With Christmas greens on the altar, and fan arrangements of silver-flecked white poinsettia, white flocked greenery and snow sticks appointing the chancel, the marriage of Miss Mary Stoehr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Stoehr, to George T. Wall, son of Mrs. George T. Wall, and the late Mr. Wall, took place on Thursday evening, Dec. 22, at the Church of the Holy Trinity, Episcopal. The Rev. David Gracely solemnized the 8 o'clock service and the wedding music was played by Dorsey Baird, organist, who also accompanied the vocal soloist, Monty McMahon.

Velvet frocks, green for the maid of honor, and red for the bridesmaids, were worn by the attendants who were Miss Nancy Dewey, the maid of honor; and bridesmaids Miss Margaret Rortert, Miss Barbara Wood, Miss Carolyn Packett, Miss Emily Forst, Miss Janice Rolofson and Miss Sylvia Barnes. The costumes were designed with snugly fitted bodices and very bouffant skirts. Each carried a muf ornamented with white gardenias frosted with silver, and sprays of holly. Sandra Kay Stoehr and Margie Stoehr were the flower girls, and Mickey Stoehr carried the ring.

Richard Lukis of Omaha served Mr. Wall as best man, and seating the guests were Donald Ditterding, Deshler; William Kromenhawk, South Sioux City; Henry Harries, Pawnee City; Robert Smith, Valley; Rudy Stoehr and Richard Long.

A colonial gown of Chantilly lace and tulle was chosen by the bride for her wedding. Jeweled medallions contoured the shell neckline of the long-sleeved fitted bodice beneath which the tulle skirt was extremely bouffant and was patterned with sprays of lace applique. A heart-shaped plateau of jeweled lace held in place the triple-tiered veil of English illusion, and she carried a bouquet of gardenias and white roses.

The bride attended the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Phi. Mr. Wall also is a former student at the University of Nebraska and is a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity.

MISS RUTH HINMAN, who will become the bride of Allison G. Allen of Washington, D.C., at a morning ceremony Friday, Dec. 23.

To Be Morning Bride

In the presence of the members of the immediate families, the marriage of Miss Ruth Hinman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Hinman, to Allison G. Allen of Washington, D. C., son of Mrs. C. N. Allen of Garner, N. C., will be solemnized Friday morning, Dec. 23, at the home of the bride's parents. The lines of the 10:30 o'clock service will be read by the Rev. Carl M. Davidson, minister of the First Methodist Church.

As the maid of honor and her sister's only attendant, Miss Betty Hinman will wear an afternoon frock in the robin's egg blue shade. Designed with a fitted bodice and flaring skirt, her costume is completed by a matching jacket fashioned with a wide collar and short, cuffed sleeves. She will wear a corsage of white carnations.

Jack E. Hinman, brother of the bride, will serve Mr. Allen as best man.

The bride has chosen for her wedding a tailored, two-piece ensemble of dove-toned wool designed in the daytime mode. A high, turned-down collar and cuffed, bracelet-length sleeves accent the bodice, which is dotted with turquoise rhinestones, and the wide skirt is snugly belted with turquoise velvet. Her accessories are in matching turquoise and she will wear a shoulder corsage of white roses.

A small reception for the members of the family will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hinman, after which the couple will leave for a wedding trip to Colorado.

Mr. Allen and his bride will make their home in Washington, D. C.

The Brides' Book Says:

A bride-to-be of early spring will be Miss Ruth Kleint, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kleint, who has announced that her marriage to Jack E. Davis of Omaha will take place on March 24.

The ceremony will be solemnized in the evening at Trinity Methodist Church.

Both Miss Kleint and her fiancé are students at the University of Nebraska where the bride-elect is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi. Mr. Davis, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross C. Davis of Omaha, is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Honoring Miss Donna Stephenson and her fiancé, Charles J. Parks, next Tuesday evening will be the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald D. Stephenson, who will be host and hostess at a pre-nuptial dinner to be held at the University Club.

Included among the 18 guests, all members of the family and bridal party, will be Mr. Parks' uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Johnson and their son, Reuben Johnson Jr., of Omaha. Preceding the dinner, a wedding rehearsal will be held at Westminster Presbyterian Church.

The marriage of Miss Stephenson and Mr. Parks will take place early Wednesday evening, Dec. 28, in the chapel of Westminster Presbyterian Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar F. Larson will entertain next Wednesday evening at a pre-nuptial dinner in courtesy to their daughter, Lillian, and her fiancé, Wesley D. Klein. Twenty-five guests have been invited to the dinner, which will be held at Cotner Terrace and will be followed by a wedding rehearsal at the church.

The marriage of Miss Larson and Mr. Klein will take place Friday evening, Dec. 30, at Grace Lutheran Church.

A popular January bride-elect is Miss Mavis Bryceon who has chosen Saturday, Jan. 7, as the date for her marriage to Lowell A. Ham. The ceremony will be solemnized at Grace Lutheran Church.

Miss Carol Leslie will attend Miss Bryceon as maid of honor, and the bride-to-be has named as her bridesmaids Miss Marian Christensen, Miss Ruth Oosting, Mrs. Darrell Bryceon and Miss Margie Riddle.

Serving as best man will be Duane Selk, and the corps of ushers will include Lyle Ahrens, Ivan Brul, David Paulson, Louis Meinecke, Jerry Snyder and Darrell Bryceon, brother of the bride-elect.

On Tuesday, Jan. 3, Miss Bryceon will be honored at a pre-nuptial courtesy for which Miss Virginia Baker, Miss Ruth Oosting and Miss Mary Kay Humann will be co-hostesses.

Entertaining for the bride-to-be recently were Miss Marian Christensen and Miss Diane Forster who were co-hostesses to a group of guests at a one-gift show.

Also planning a January wedding is Miss Norma Jeanne Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent P. Rogers, who will become the bride of A. L. James F. Lewis on Saturday, Jan. 7.

In courtesy to Miss Rogers, Miss Mary Ellen Fricke will entertain at an informal evening affair next Wednesday at her home. Eighteen guests have been invited, and a miscellaneous shower will be presented to the honoree.

Assisting Miss Fricke as hostess will be Miss Mona Lee Rogers, sister of the bride-to-be.

Precise Date Unknown

Connie Mack Celebrates 93rd Birthday

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "Merry Christmas, Merry Christmas everybody!"

The voice was high and shrill, almost unintelligible, but the lean figure in the wheel chair beside the towering Christmas tree still commanded the respect that was due Cornelius J. McGillicuddy—baseball's Connie Mack.

Thursday wasn't exactly Mack's 93rd birthday. The precise date has been lost in antiquity—the records of his entry into the league of the human race at East Brookfield, Mass., have gone the way of many such facts and figures.

The best guess, both Mack's son, Roy, called a slightly premature celebration at Roy's suburban Bryn Mawr home Thursday to permit his father to mark the occasion with newsmen and photographers.

Clean shaven and with his hair freshly cut, Mack awaited the "press" in a wheel chair because he hasn't done much walking since he fractured his hip in a fall 2½ months ago.

Just two days ago, Mack emerged from Presbyterian Hospital after a checkup. His physician Dr. Illarion I. Gopadze, said the "Old Man" was recovering nicely from his early fall and another which resulted in a second fracture when he attempted to get out of bed without assistance.

CONNIE MACK

Cake With Symbol
Mack, who managed the Philadelphia now the Kansas City Athletics for a half century before his retirement, displayed a good-sized cake with an elephant the A's traditional symbol on top.

His dark blue suit was pressed to perfection and his eyes came close to the old Connie Mack sparkle as the flash bulbs popped all around him.

Along about Jan. 15 Connie plans to fly to Florida to spend the remainder of the winter with another son, Connie Jr.

In the meantime, he'll have some time to read the several thousand telegrams and letters he's received from old friends and well wishers—including American League President Ford Frick and National Prexy Warren Giles.

'Medical All-America' Team Chosen From Ex-Grid Stars

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Something new in all-star football teams, a "medical All-America" composed of one-time gridiron greats who now are doctors, was named Thursday.

Quarterbacked by Dr. W. Barry Wood Jr., the 25-man squad was named by the editors of "Spectrum" a medical journal published by a pharmaceutical firm.

The squad is made up of men who were nationally known stars in their day. For example, Dr. Wood was Harvard's famed All-America of 1931. He is now vice president of Johns Hopkins University and hospital.

Others on the team:

Backs
Doctors Marvin A. (Mal) Stevens, Yale, 1923, now an orthopedist in New York; Phil E. White, Oklahoma, 1920, now practicing industrial and traumatic surgery in Oklahoma City; Josiah C. Mc-Cracken, Pennsylvania, 1899, who served as a medical missionary in China for many years; Andrew J. Oberlander, Dartmouth, 1925, medical director of an insurance company in Chicago; E. Leroy Mercer, Pennsylvania, 1910-1912, retired as dean of Penn's department of physical education; William C. Wurtgenberg, Yale, 1887, retired at New Haven, Conn.

Ends
Doctors Edward N. Anderson, Notre Dame, 1921, now head football coach at Holy Cross; Joseph C. Donchess, University of Pittsburgh, 1929, chief surgeon of the Gary Steel Works; H. C. Carlson, Pittsburgh, 1917, head of the mep's student health service at Pitt; George C. Tully, Dartmouth, 1925, a practicing urologist in Worcester, Mass.; A. Harry Kallet, Syracuse, 1911, in general practice in Syracuse; Harold P. Muller, University of California, 1921-1922, orthopedic surgeon in Berkeley.

Tackles
Doctors George W. Hauser, University of Minnesota, 1916-1917, a dermatologist in Minneapolis; J. Louis M. Huffman, Ohio State, 1920-1921, in general practice in Ravenna, Ohio; Otis F. Lamson, Penn., 1905, a surgeon in Seattle; Charles B. Ceppi, Princeton, 1933, a general practitioner in James-town, R. I.; Franklin K. Gowdy, Chicago, 1924, an internist at Winnetka, Ill.; James C. Walker, Minnesota, 1910, orthopedic surgeon in Dayton, Ohio.

Guards
Doctors Stephen E. Reid, Northwestern, 1926, surgeon in Evanston, Ill.; Edward M. Molinsky, Tennessee, 1939-1940, general practitioner in Memphis; Daniel J. Fortmann, Colgate, 1935, surgeon in Hollywood, Calif.; Clarence W. Spears, Dartmouth 1914-1915, in general practice at Ypsilanti, Mich.

Centers
Doctors Joseph Alexander, Syracuse, 1918-1920, an internist in New York; William R. Cunningham, Michigan, 1898, now retired at Grove City, Pa.

Also listed was Dr. John W. Wilce who coached football at Ohio State from 1913 to 1928, and is now an internist at Columbus. In an accolade to the squad, the journal said: "As a group they perhaps resolve an old argument about the destiny of outstanding athletes—they have done well indeed."

Wake Forest Tips Brigham Young

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (AP) — Wake Forest's Deacons, fresh from victory in the Charlotte Carroussel Classic, walloped Brigham Young here Thursday night, 86-60. It was the second defeat in two nights for the fifth-ranked Cougars, who lost to No. 2 N. C. State last night.

Bud Plans 'Surprise' For Team

'Big Names' Said Eager To Coach Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — General Manager Vince McNally says enough "big name" coaches have expressed an interest in the Philadelphia Eagles' coaching job to field a starting lineup of grid strategists.

McNally said Thursday he has contacted 14 top coaches about the possibility of replacing Jim Trimble, recently fired Eagle field boss, and only three definitely rejected the idea.

Those three, McNally said, were

Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech; Col. Earl (Red) Blaik of the U. S. Military Academy, and Blanton Collier of Kentucky.

In addition, Lawrence T. (Buck) Shaw of the new U. S. Air Force Academy, said he was approached by the Eagles management but was not interested in shifting from his present post to take over the Philadelphia entry in the National Football League.

Shaw said he was flattered to be included in those under consideration by the Eagles but added: "I told them I had accepted a five-year contract with the Air Academy and expected to carry it out." Eddie Erdelatz, Navy coach, also has made it plain he's not interested in the Eagle job.

Trimble was fired the day after the Eagles lost the final game of their disappointing 1955 season. That 17-10 loss to the Chicago Bears Dec. 11 gave the Eagles a 1955 record of four wins, seven defeats and a tie—this after the club was rated a pre-season title contender.

After Trimble's departure on short notice, the experts expressed the opinion McNally and the rest of the Eagle top brass would have a tough job acquiring a "name" coach for what many consider an insecure spot.

McNally said on a recent trip that he contacted two coaches from the South and two from the Midwest about the Eagle vacancy.

"I gave them the pitch on the job," he said, "and was given a very good reception."

McNally said the situation is still wide open. In addition to the college coaches he contacted, he said he's had inquiries from five pro coaches.

"I'm looking for the best man available either from the college or pro ranks," said the Eagle general manager. "The college coaches I've talked to are all of the 'big name' category, but perhaps the best 'big name' available wouldn't meet our needs as well as a coach who hasn't been as much in the spotlight."

McNally said he expects the Eagles' coaching picture to crystallize shortly after the year-end bowl games. Several of those being discussed for the Philadelphia job are involved in post-season games.

Among the coaches McNally is believed to have contacted are Art Lewis at West Virginia, Bill Murray at Duke, Bernie Crimmins at Indiana, Andy Gustafson at Miami, Wally Butts of Georgia, Rex Enright of South Carolina, and Hugh Devore of Dayton.

Maryland's Jim Tatum and Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson also have been mentioned as possibilities for the Eagle vacancy but both reportedly are set at their present posts.

SMU Gains 85-67 Win Over Wichita

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Jim Krebs bucketed 10 field shots and made good on 4 of 6 free throws to pace Southern Methodist to an 85-67 basketball victory over Wichita Thursday night.

Krebs scored 10 points in the first two minutes of play to get Southern Methodist off to an early lead. The Mustangs were ahead 51-37 at halftime.

Bob Hodgson was high point man for Wichita with 18. Southern Methodist players scored many easy lay-ins the first half. The victory gave the Mustangs a 7-2 record. Wichita's record is 4-4.

Hoosiers Winners Over Drake 82-79

DES MOINES (AP) — Indiana fought off Drake's efforts for a second half rally Thursday night and squeezed out an 82-79 victory over the Bulldogs. The Hoosiers were ahead 44-44 at halftime but Drake challenged after the rest period and at one time held a 5-point lead.

The Bulldogs carried the fight down to the final minute and missed several shots from the field which would have given them an upset over the Big Ten team. They completed their 5-point lead at 63-58 after 8 minutes of the second half.

The lead changed hands more than a dozen times during the final period and with 4 minutes to go the Hoosiers were on top 77-76. With only one minute left their margin was 77-77. A field goal and two free throws gave Indiana the victory.

Wally Choice, the Hoosier captain had a game total of 23 points and was a vital factor in Indiana's drive to the halftime advantage.

The Hoosiers hit 34 of 75 shots from the field for a 45 scoring percentage. Drake counted on only 31 per cent of its field goal attempts. The win was Indiana's fifth in six tries and left the Bulldogs with a 4-2 mark.

Maryland Movies Won't Spoil Sooners' Holiday

By SAUL FELDMAN

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson is saving a big surprise for his Orange Bowl bound football team when it gets to Miami for practices, a look at motion pictures of Maryland in action.

Wilkinson and his staff have been viewing and moaning about the terrific line play of the Terps since they first started running the films. They all agree that "Maryland is better than ever" and each time they take another look, the Terps still get better.

The films came to the OU coaching staff in an exchange with Maryland, Oklahoma, the national champion with a 29-game winning streak at stake, meets third-ranked Maryland at Miami in the Orange Bowl Jan. 2.

Team Shock Postponed

Wilkinson said Thursday it was enough that his coaching staff had to spoil a merry Christmas by watching the second best defensive team in the nation operate. He charitably decided to hold off shocking the Sooner squad because "I don't want them to worry too much until after the holidays."

For the doubters, Wilkinson points to the huge Maryland tackles.

"The two together are 73 pounds heavier than our tackles," Wilkinson noted as he pitted his poor forward wall. "They're 15-pounds a man heavier than our line."

Because of Maryland's line, Wilkinson has decided on concentrating his practices on defense and hoping the Sooners' offense will take care of itself.

Won't Dominate The Ball

Wilkinson pointed out "everyone has moved the ball against us. One reason we look so good in the statistics is because we hold the ball a lot longer than our opponents. That won't be true against Maryland. We'll be lucky to have the ball half the time. There's no way to dominate the ball game against Maryland."

Oklahoma led the nation in rushing and total offense the past season.

"If Maryland moves the ball against us like other teams this season, they may whack us good," he pessimistically noted.

Gault Bantam Champ Again

SPARTANBURG, S. C. (AP) — Underdog Henry (Pappy) Gault of Spartanburg, former North American bantamweight champion, pounded out a unanimous decision over Johnny O'Brien of Boston for the U.S. bantam title here Thursday night.

Gault weighed 117½ and O'Brien 117½.

A crowd of 1,500 saw Gault carry the fight to O'Brien all the way. Pappy started strong and finished strong.

O'Brien's best round was the 13th when he rolled up points on rapid lefts to Gault's head.

Gault opened an old cut under O'Brien's eye in the third round and brought blood from his nose in the eighth. Pappy cut O'Brien's mouth in the ninth.

Judge Guard Wyatt scored it 9-5-1 for Gault and Judge W. T. Salters gave it to Gault 11-3-1. Referee Harry Ward scored the fight 12-1-2 for Gault.

POINT BLANK

By Don Bryant
Sports Editor, The Star

(Today's column is by Pat Robinson of International News Service, substituting for Sports Editor Don Bryant, who is on vacation.)

January usually is the month for trades, so it may be assumed that all the major league clubs will be in the market next month.

No clubs — not even pennant winners like the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers — can afford to stand still for that way lies stagnation and a loss of fan interest.

How can any club sell its fans the idea that it is trying to improve unless it turns up with some new playing material?

Of course, every club likes to believe that its new crop of rookies will turn the league upside down, and it is true that once in a blue moon a club will come up with a sensational youngster, as Detroit came up with Al Kaline last year.

But even so gifted a player as Kaline can't work miracles alone. Most clubs need not one but several players to improve themselves.

The New York Giants, for example, need two pitchers, an infielder, outfielder and another catcher. It may be they already have what they need on their farm clubs, and that the boys will deliver at the same time.

Nevertheless, we think the Giants would not be averse to acquiring a tried and true, top notch performer in a deal. So it goes.

Ryff Foe In Vasquez TV Debut

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP) — Mexico's Baby Vasquez, a newcomer to the East and television fans, makes his Madison Square Garden debut tonight against Frankie Ryff of New York. It's a rugged assignment for the 24-year-old visitor, a 4-1 underdog.

Ryff, 23, is the fourth-ranking lightweight contender. The sandy-haired New Yorker has an impressive 19-1 record and is full of fight. His only loss was a decision defeat to Ralph Dupas in the latter's home town of New Orleans, May 17.

Since that loss, Ryff outpointed Joey Lopes and former lightweight king Paddy DeMarco. Named "Rookie of the Year" for 1954, the rangy, fast-moving Ryff has lived up to the award. He is a fine counter-puncher.

Vasquez is a boxer-puncher, who has an unbeaten string of 12 according to Manager George Parnassus. The 5-6 Mexican, who has done most of his leather-pushing in his native country and California, has a 35-8-1 record with 10 knockouts. Ryff has only three kayos to his credit.

Brings Qualified Fighters

"The odds are crazy," said Parnassus, who hails from Los Angeles and has a reputation for bringing only qualified fighters East. He beat Ralph Dupas once and lost two close decisions to him, one in New Orleans. He'll surprise everyone."

If Vasquez fights as well as Parnassus talks, it could be a fast, brisk battle.

The 10-round fight will be televised, coast to coast, (NBC-TV and radio, 9 p.m., CST).

Scoring is figured by rounds. A supplementary point system also is used to help break draws. The winner of each round gets from one to four points, the loser none.

North Picks Co-Captains

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Arrival of three West Point players and election of co-captains highlighted activity in the North camp Thursday while the South worked on defense for their Orange Bowl meeting Dec. 26.

Don Hollender, Pat Uebel and Ralph Chensnauks arrived from West Point early Thursday and five hours later were on the practice field.

Fredy Wyant of West Virginia and Pat Biscaglia of Notre Dame were chosen co-captains of the Yanks. The South Wednesday named George Welsh of Navy and Harold Burnine of Missouri as captains.

Art Lewis of West Virginia, who with Bernie Crimmins of Indiana is coaching the North squad, said both were "fine leaders and have sparked the team since the beginning of practice."

Lewis and Crimmins installed several draw plays to take advantage of the running fullbacks Uebel and Dick Fitzgerald of Notre Dame. Lou Mele of Utah and Jim Troglia of Northwestern got off some tremendous kicks during the workout. Jim Freeman of Iowa is to do the extra point kicking.

Offense Stressed

Co-coaches Wally Butts of Georgia and Rex Enright of South Carolina stressed defensive assignments to the southern players in a two-hour drill. The squad also went through its last contact work before Monday night's game.

"Several of the boys are going to major in defense," Butts said. "However, we are going to use every man both ways during the game. Some are just going to play one way more than the other."

Tennessee's Charles Coffey will play offensive guard and defensive tackle, while Miami's Bob Nolan will be used on runs from both right and left end, Butts said.

The squads will work out again Friday and hold light practice drills Saturday, then take Sunday off to rest up for the game.

Bob Moore Hits 32 To Pace Clarkson

CLARKSON — Clarkson took an early lead and went on to trip Howells, 72-64 behind the 32-point shooting of Bob Moore.

The game developed into a scoring duel between Moore and Howells' Dean Liekus, who tossed in 28.

Group Completes Nashua Purchase

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Members of the syndicate owning Nashua, which left Thursday to resume his brilliant racing career, were announced Thursday by Leslie Combs II.

The 1955 Horse of the Year, rested at Clairborne Farm near Paris, Ky., until sold for $1,251,200, is to arrive in Miami Saturday and resume training Dec. 26.

The syndicate received title to Nashua Thursday.

Combs, of Spendthrift Farm, Lexington, John W. Hanes and Chris J. Devine, both of New York, hold the majority interest. Others include P. A. B. Widener, Lexington; Harry M. Warner, Hollywood, Calif.; Robert W. McIlvain, Lexington; and Mereworth Farm, Lexington.

Combs said he, Hanes and Devine had promised some of their shares to friends.

The interests purchased Nashua from the estate of William Woodward Jr.

Mudecas Cage Slate Listed

STERLING — Pairings and playing schedules for the 1956 Mudecas basketball tourney were announced here Thursday by A. D. Chapman, Sterling coach and superintendent, president of Mudecas.

Twenty-four teams will take part in the tourney, slated to begin Monday, Jan. 9 and windup Friday, Jan. 13. All games in the tourney will be played at the Beatrice auditorium.

The teams entered have been divided into three classes on the basis of current basketball records. Eight teams are in each class.

The pairings and times for first round games by class include:

Class A—Upper bracket, Adams vs. Liberty, 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 11; Colmesville vs. First, 9 p.m. Monday, Jan. 9; Lower bracket, Sterling vs. Filley, 9 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 10; Wynmore vs. Sorasue-Mantel, 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 10.

All finals will be played on Friday, Jan. 13, leading off with Class C at 6 p.m., Class B at 7:30 p.m. and Class A at 9 p.m.

Sports Car Club Officers Named

Officers of the Nebraska Region of the Sports Car Club of America were named in a recent meeting in Omaha.

Darrel Mahne, Omaha, was elected president. Joe Mayer, Omaha, was named Asst. Regional Executive. John C. Mason of Lincoln was elected secretary and Richard D. Ferguson of Lincoln was named treasurer. The activities director post went to Cy Dieter of Omaha.

Giant Leader Signs

NEW YORK (AP) — Alex Webster, halfback who led the New York football Giants in rushing this season with 634 yards, signed his 1956 contract Thursday. Immediately after the Giants completed their schedule on Dec. 11, Webster indicated he might return to Canada next season, where he was voted the outstanding player of the 1954 season.

SFU-Loyola Game To Help 'Integration'

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — A Wichita sportsman, in a bylined column, said Thursday San Francisco's athletic director told him Monday USF scheduled its basketball game against Loyola at New Orleans to "help along their integration program."

Joe Gilmartin, Wichita Beacon sports editor, wrote that the remark "seemed interesting but hardly momentous" at the time, and added:

"Subsequent events were to bring it sharply into focus, and lift a routine basketball game into the glare of the national spotlight."

Gilmartin quoted the Rev. Ralph Tichenor, athletic moderator at USF, as saying in a "casual chat":

"You know, one of the big reasons we booked a date in New Orleans with Loyola was that school officials there said we could help along their integration program."

"Of course, we have five Negroes on our traveling squad, but we've never really had any trouble along those lines."

The San Francisco-Loyola game is scheduled Friday night.

Gilmartin's reference to "subsequent events" was to published reports of fan reaction to play of Shellie McMillon, Negro member of the Bradley University team.

New Orleans sportswriters said McMillon, Bradley forward, aroused the crowd at Tuesday night's Bradley-Loyola game when he stuck out his tongue at fans after he fouled out. McMillon denied the charge and his coach, Bob Vanatta, said without elaborating that he did not intend to subject his Negro players on his team "to such pressure and unfair criticism in the future."

Bahama To Substitute

NEW YORK (AP) — Yama Bahama, Miami welterweight who has won his last 18 fights, Thursday was signed to meet Paolo Melis of Montreal in a television 10-round at St. Nicholas Arena Monday night, Dec. 26.

Bahama, whose real name is William Hohabius Butler, Jr., subs for Chico Vejar of Stamford, Conn. He has a 34-4-2 record. Vejar pulled out of the fight Wednesday, saying he has an injured back. He was suspended by the State Athletic Commission for an indefinite period.

Ronnie Knox Tosses Passes

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Halfback Ronnie Knox of UCLA took his place on the pass firing line for the first time Thursday, which may be bad news for the Bruins' Rose Bowl rival, Michigan State.

The good looking junior, who broke a bone in his leg in the Washington game Nov. 12, completed 14 throws before he missed. It must be emphasized, however, that Knox was under no pressure. There was no rushing the passer in the brief aerial drill conducted by Head Coach Red Sanders.

Knox also took his turn at the safety position, fielding punts. Later he said the leg "bothered" him a little, but he was very optimistic that he will be ready to play Jan. 2.

Coach Duffy Daugherty, meanwhile, scrimmaged Michigan State for about 35 minutes, with the first team knocking heads for the first 15 minutes.

Daugherty said they were "still making some mistakes," but he was not as dissatisfied with progress of the drills as he was two days ago.

Thursday was the last time the Spartans will drill twice a day. Friday morning they are to visit a studio in Hollywood and work out in the afternoon.

Call Nets Holley West Squad Berth

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) — A fractured wrist and the fact a telephone call was made on time landed halfback Weldon Holley of Baylor a berth on the West squad for the annual East-West Shrine football game, Holley revealed Thursday.

Holley was chosen as a replacement for Oregon's Dick James, who slipped on the edge of a swimming pool over the weekend and broke a bone in his left wrist.

Coach Jess Hill of Southern California, the West boss, telephoned Holley at his home in Odessa, Tex. to ask him if he'd take James' place.

"I was just sitting down to supper," Holley said. "My mother answered the phone and said it was long distance. A man on the other end said he was Jess Hill and would I like to take the next plane and join the squad."

"I thought it was the gang at Baylor jobbing me, but turned out it wasn't. It's a good thing Mr. Hill called when he did, though. I was planning to leave early the next morning on a deer hunting trip to New Mexico and they'd never have found me in the wilderness."

Pre-Holiday Grid Drills Wound Up

UNIVERSITY, Miss. (AP) — The University of Mississippi Thursday wound up its pre-Christmas Cotton Bowl workouts with a brisk warm-up drill.

Coach Johnny Vaught, mindful that most of his charges were anxious to get a head start home, kept the session short but made up for it in intensity.

With the Jan. 2 date with Texas Christian in Dallas only 11 days away, the Rebels continued to stress ground defense and punting. Placement kicking also received some attention.

The practice was conducted in warmup togs and accented speed and timing in blocking assignments.

Manhattan, Connecticut Register Wins

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Manhattan pulled a major upset Thursday night, defeating previously unbeaten George Washington 71-63 in the opening game of a Madison Square Garden college basketball double-header.

Connecticut overcame a 10-point deficit midway in the second half to surprise NYU 90-82 in the second game of the twin bill before 4,320.

Joe Holup, the Colonels' highly touted center, lived up to advance notices netting 34 points but he received little help from his teammates as the Jaspers opened up a 25-11 margin midway in the first half. Jerry Paulson, who paced the winners with 24 points, led the early drive for the Jaspers who maintained a 37-31 half-time lead. Holup scored 16 of his team's points in the opening half.

Holup, who came into the game with a 27-point average and a 62.3 accuracy percentage, continued his one-man surge in the second half scoring 12 of his team's first 14 points as George Washington pulled up into a 43-43 tie.

Manhattan, however, led by John Powers and Paulson continued to pile on the pressure and regained a 58-55 lead at the 10 minute mark. Baskets by Al Baker and Holup sandwiched around a free throw by Manhattan's Bob Murphy deadlocked the score again at 59-59 with three minutes to go.

The Manhattan defense, which had been double-teaming Holup with fair success in the latter stages of the second half, held Holup to a pair of free throws to break into a 69-61 lead with less than a minute remaining.

Giese To Get Coaching Post

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP) — Maryland Assistant Coach Warren Giese is expected to sign a contract as head football coach at the University of South Carolina early next month, usually reliable sources said Thursday.

At the same time, sources in South Carolina said, Maryland Head Coach Jim Tatum is expected to accept a 10-year contract, including a new house, to switch to the University of North Carolina. Tatum would succeed discharged Coach George Barclay at North Carolina, where Tatum played football.

However, Tatum has been reported heading back to his alma mater almost every season for the last several years. Several times this fall, he has denied reports that he planned to leave Maryland.

Ten days ago during a news conference, Tatum said, "I'm pretty tired off about them (the recurring reports). It's ridiculous. You'd think I was out applying for a job."

Asked why he didn't just say he would be back at Maryland next season, Tatum replied, "I've said that 10 times and I don't remember ever saying anything else."

Tatum is in Florida where his team will meet Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl Jan. 2.

Giese, a 1946 graduate of the University of Oklahoma where he played end under Tatum, was offered the South Carolina post by Athletic Director Rex Enright, whom Giese would succeed as coach.

Details of the contract offered Giese could not be learned. Giese was here recently for individual interviews with the South Carolina assistant coaches.

At the same time the coaching shift takes place, the university athletic publicity director, Don Barton, plans to leave that job to become sports editor of the Columbia Record, a job he held once before. He will succeed Van Newman, resigning to enter private public relations work. The Columbia Record has not announced the change, but confirmed the information.

Western Bounces Bruning, 62-38

Scientist Skilled With Bow, Arrow

DAVID CITY—A former David City resident, who holds a doctor of philosophy degree in bichemistry, is establishing a reputation as a big-game hunter—using bow and arrow and rifle.

He is Dr. Robert Hurlbert, 28, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Hurlbert of David City. Dr. Hurlbert will soon join the medical staff of a Houston, Tex. hospital.

The scientist bagged a deer with bow and arrow in Wisconsin two years ago and two weeks ago repeated same. Also, about the time he put his first arrow through his first deer, Dr. Hurlbert shot a moose with a rifle while on a tour in Sweden.

It was in Sweden that Dr. Hurlbert met and married his Latvian born wife, who will join him in Houston next summer.

Hurlbert was on the University of Nebraska Rifle Team and while at the University, took up archery.

'Arab-Asian Importance Must Be Recognized'

... Says Sen. Mansfield

WASHINGTON (INS) — Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) urged Thursday that the administration reappraise its diplomatic policy-planning for the "newly-political" Arab-Asian part of the world.

Mansfield, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, also warned in an interview that the U.S. should not try to "match or over-match" the Soviet Union in its promises of aid to countries like India and Afghanistan.

The senator declared: "The times call for caution and coolness, for accentuating our point and giving serious consideration to worthwhile projects in the field of economic development on a mutual support basis."

Importance of Bandung

He said he "questions whether our government recognized the importance of the Bandung Conference and the creation of a new Arab-Asian bloc in the world."

Referring to the State Department's policy-planning staff, Mansfield indicated he doubts whether that high-level group is being utilized by Asia and the Middle East.

He said: "There ought to be a reappraisal of the whole structure of our policy planning. We should be prepared to change tactics and methods of procedure in this new, ly-political and highly significant area of the world."

Feeling of Unrest

Mansfield said there is a "feeling of unrest and rising nationalism throughout all of South Asia and practically the entire continent of Africa."

He noted that a number of the newly-admitted United Nations members — Ceylon, Nepal, Cambodia, Laos and Jordan — are former colonial areas which are finding independence and feeling the surges of nationalism.

He observed: "I often wonder where this nationalism will take us."

Mansfield said one of the most effective things for the U.S. to do in this situation would be to "step up out technical assistance program on a mutually cooperative basis."

Estes Cites Race Issue School Injury

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) said here Thursday it would be "tragic" if the public school system in the South were destroyed or damaged in efforts to avert racial integration.

Kefauver arrived here for the christening of the daughter of old friends and to speak at a civic gathering. He held a press conference at the airport.

"My feeling is that it is the law of the land," he said, when asked about the Supreme Court ruling against racial segregation in the schools.

'Unanimous'

"The Supreme Court was unanimous in its opinion against enforced segregation in public schools. It is a problem that must be worked out with time and patience. It is important that the races get together, and make plans to work out the situation."

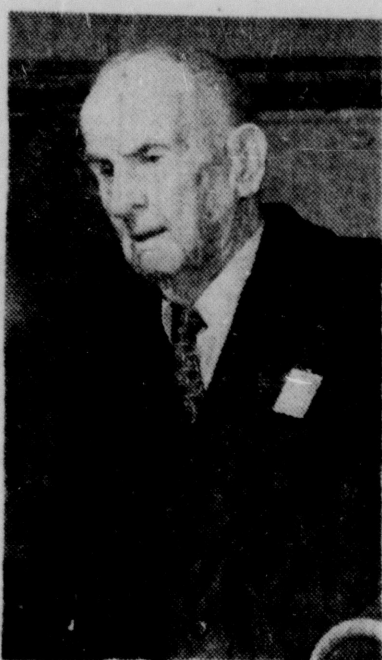

"It would be tragic if the public school system were destroyed or damaged," he said.

Kefauver will be godfather for 9-month-old Diane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas P. Kostopoulos of Virginia Beach.

Starting Home

CHICAGO (INS)—President Luis Batlle Berres of Uruguay, who has been hospitalized in Chicago with a gastro-intestinal ailment, leaves for home Friday.

He will be released from Wesley Memorial Hospital where he has been confined since he was stricken during a banquet Dec. 14.

STAN DELAPLANE'S

POSTCARD

I read in the journals the other day that we have come a long way since Grandpa was a boy.

Grandpa worked a minimum of 48 hours a week and sometimes more. He was forever getting up at dawn to milk the cows or hustle a lot of hay out of the loft. When Christmas rolled around, even when I was a boy, we trimmed the tree with strung popcorn and candles.

Anyway, I read in the journals that we can produce the same standard of living today in five hours of work per week. The same that took Grandpa 48.

Well, we have pretty fine Christmas days these days. I think our trees are prettier.

On the other hand, roast apples and roasted nuts seem to have gone out of fashion. And there was something pretty warming about these things in the kitchen around the roaring wood stove.

We get our Dickens' "Christmas Carol" on TV these days. But I am not so sure it is as living as when Grandpa read it aloud on Christmas Eve. With the part about the rattling chains enough to frighten you as bad as Scrooge and the wind whistling outside and driving the snow up in piles around the window sills.

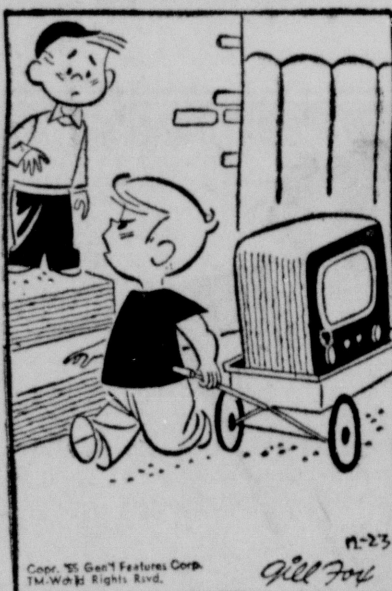

The mechanical age was just getting under way when I was a boy. And one of the biggest Christmas days I remember was when we got our Edison talking machine.

It was a big mahogany affair with a crank on the side. Grandpa would her up and, while we all watched, he put on a big black record that was thick as one of Grandpa's waffles.

He put down the needle and there was "Cohen on the Telephone." The most comical thing I had ever heard. I played it over and over until the family dragged me away.

We had no hi-fi or radio but I remember my first crystal set. I had to build it myself. But it took less than a day. And in the winter afternoon, we put an aerial up on the roof. Dabbed the little cat's whisker around on the galena crystal and you could hear music coming in on the earphones!

WILBERT

"I left home!"

Omahan Enters Innocent Plea In Murder Case

OMAHA (AP)—Willie Washington, 39, of Omaha was bound over to District Court on a charge of first degree murder. Central Criminal Court Judge Robert Nelson fixed bond at $25,000, but it was not furnished.

Washington pleaded innocent to the charges filed in the Saturday night slaying of John Henry Thompson, 34, also of Omaha. Detective Inspector Ernest Brown said Washington had admitted the slaying in a statement to detectives.

Deputy County Attorney Tom Kelley said Washington's girl friend, Edith Johnson, 36, has been charged as a state's witness and her bond set at $250.

Detectives said she admitted helping Washington drag the body of Thompson to Thompson's parked car. The two then drove the car several blocks and abandoned it.

From Iowa all the way to Illinois. "In the State where the tall corn grows!" said the announcer.

Things were even more mechanical by the next year. I got somebody to buy me Walker's Patented Burglar Alarm.

It was a flat pressure pad that you put under the rug. When anybody stepped on the rug it set off a loud clanging bell and I didn't see how I had got along without it all these years.

I set it before I went to bed. And when Grandma stepped on it during the night, it nearly turned her liver white. At least that is what she said later. I know she did because I remember bragging that I had a white-livered grandmother. She was pretty mad when she found out about it.

Nowadays, of course, we have radio, hi-fi phonographs, TV. Automatic heating, garage doors that open and close by electronics and a fairly mechanical life.

I don't really think I would like to go back and have it like the old days exactly. Not even if I could get along on five hours work a week.

But I am certainly glad I had it when I did.

It was a time to remember when we brought in our own wood from the snowy ground. And the milk froze and rose six inches in the bottle. And we put the aerial on the roof and the music came in from Iowa. And Cohen did the telephone act on the Edison talking machine. And Grandma's liver turned as white as the snow in the window drifts when the burglar alarm went off.

That was a Christmas to remember. (Dist. by The McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Partial Okay Given To Sioux Flood Project

OMAHA (AP)—The District and Division officials of the Corps of Engineers have partially approved an 11-million dollar flood control project for Sioux City, Brigg. Gen. W. E. Potter, division engineer, said.

The proposal for the Floyd River Basin at Sioux City would "fully protect the city against a peak flood discharge on the Floyd River, equal to the maximum of record" which was the disastrous flood of June 8, 1953, Gen. Potter said.

The report now must be forwarded to the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors in Washington.

Gen. Potter said the report recommends a local protection project in Sioux City proper at a cost of about $11,000,000, but has found that flood protection for urban and rural areas upstream from Sioux City, and a higher degree of protection for Sioux City by means of reservoirs "were found to be not economically justified at this time."

State Citizens Council Picks Lentz As Head

Fred W. Lentz of Beatrice is new president of the Nebraska Citizens Council, the board of trustees announced Thursday.

Lentz, in the automobile business in Beatrice since 1928, is chairman of the Lutheran Hospital board in Beatrice and vice chairman of the board of regents of Wartburg College, Waverly, Ia.

The Citizens Council elected M. B. Thompson, manager of the George A. Hormel Co. plant at Fremont, vice president.

R. M. Armstrong, executive director of the non-profit tax research group, said selection of the two officers completes the organization of the council for the coming year.

Secretary Robert D. McNitt and Treasurer C. W. Batley, both of Lincoln, had been elected previously.

A past president of the Beatrice Chamber of Commerce and past director of Rotary, Lentz also is a director of the Beatrice Community Chest and a lay member of the union committee of the American Lutheran Church.

Thompson, a member of the Fremont School Board, also is a trustee of the Congregational Church there and a member of the Board of the Fremont National Bank.

He has been on the boards of the Fremont Chamber of Commerce and Associated Industries of Nebraska.

President Jefferson.

For in 1955 Nebraska once more was a frontier in civilization's relentless surge.

In the closing months of the year it became all but certain that here in the broad valleys along which the pioneers tramped on their way West, would be built a new monument to man's ingenuity—a nuclear-powered electric generating plant.

Some hunter from Lewis and Clark's intrepid explorer band may even have stood on the site which has been tentatively picked for the nuclear power plant, for it lies a day's ride—maybe two—from the path they followed to the Northwest.

Specifically, the Atomic Energy Commission announced Oct. 27 it has accepted a proposal of Consumers Public Power District (CPPD) as a basis of negotiation for the building of a 75,000 kilowatt atomic power plant in Nebraska.

The fact of another large power plant in itself was important to Nebraskans who now are living on borrowed time so far as power supply is concerned. This plant and another now planned were expected to head off a power shortage which otherwise would overtake the state before 1960.

Power officials hail this development as a hedge against a shortage of so-called fossil fuel—coal, oil and gas—which, though still ample, could conceivably occur through eventual exhaustion of reserves or diversion to uses other than fuel.

Ample Reserves

Known reserves of uranium, the source of energy in nuclear power, are 17 times greater than the sum total of all fossil fuel. The 215 rods of uranium which are the heart of a nuclear reactor such as the one planned in Nebraska will fuel the plant for perhaps 10 months before they need replacement.

And as they are withdrawn from the pile, the spent fuel elements—far from being waste—hold the key to fabulous industrial expansion.

Intensely radio-active when their usefulness as fuel is ended, the spent elements and the sodium solution used as a coolant can be put to work to process food, treat plastics, and perhaps hundreds of other uses still unknown.

"Some use is 'applicable to everybody's business,'" said Dr. Emerson Jones, nuclear adviser to CPPD.

The spent fuel elements are capable of killing the organisms which cause decay in foods by simply passing the food near the radioactive rods.

This makes possible the storing of fresh foods for months, even years, without preservation or refrigeration.

A package of meat sterilized in this way may be stored as long as 18 months without refrigeration, potatoes may be stored 18 to 24 months without sprouting or spoilage, bread may be stored from a year to 18 months.

Experimental work has proved that not all processes are yet complete.

Rev. Best Ordained As Episcopal Pastor

RUSHVILLE, Neb.—The Rev. Tom Best of Gordon was ordained into the Episcopal priesthood at special ceremonies held Thursday at St. Mary's Episcopal Church at Holly, 12 miles north of here.

The Rt. Rev. Howard R. Brinker of Omaha was in charge of the services.

pletely satisfactory, but Dr. Jones recently told an Omaha group that on the basis of these experiments the Army quartermaster corps has estimated it could save 11 cents per man per day on food costs through irradiation.

A little bit of radioactive material put in plant fertilizers permits scientists to determine how much fertilizer actually is consumed and has actually shown that the leaves of a plant soak up the fertilizer.

Irradiation can change the character of plastics, make them resistant to high heat. It can speed up chemical reaction. It can vulcanize rubber as well as heat.

'Tag for Virus'

It can be made into a "tag" for virus coursing through the human body so doctors can trace the virus accurately. It can speed up the mutations of plant life, helping plant breeders to develop improved traits for better seed.

It can make of ordinary alcohol a permanent type of anti-freeze for automobiles.

To Nebraska planners all this means vast expansion, new industry, improved ways in established industry. It puts Nebraska in the forefront of worldwide development of peacetime atomic energy.

The proposed Nebraska plant is one of five experimental reactors

—the first large enough to test the economic adaptability of such plants. None is completed. In fact Nebraska's plant is not yet started, but Consumer officials "have every confidence" the contracts will be completed and the plant started in time to begin production of power possibly before 1960. And so in 1955 Nebraska once more became the frontier—the frontier of man's journey into the wilderness of the future.
